Day 18: Shadow Art Puppets

For this assignment you are going to make shadow puppet art. The interesting thing about this project is that it is solely up to the photographer to capture the moment of the objects being cast onto the wall in shadow form.

You will need a piece of paper or a cardboard box to cut up into shapes. You will also need a strong lamp or flashlight that you will use to project light onto your strong shaped item to create a shadow on the wall. I don't want to see your hands in the shot, as it takes away from the overall feel of the image, so you might need to get some help from someone.

Take as many photos as you need to get one amazing shot!

Turn in your very best edited shot to Google Classroom.
