

Use of Technology in the Classroom

Classroom teachers may alternatively establish rules related to use of personal technology in the classroom. These rules:

- shall comply with this and other student conduct policies;
- shall take into account the ages of the students;
- shall take into account the availability of district-owned technology for student use;
- shall take into account the extent to which personal technology use would disproportionately grant students who have access to it an unfair advantage over those who do not;
- shall address cheating and disruptive use of personal technology; and
- shall be approved by the building principal prior to implementation.
