

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.

Today's Artist: Grant Wood

Grant was an American “regionalist” artist from Iowa who lived from 1892-1942. His most famous painting was “American Gothic” which featured his sister and his dentist in front of a house from his town. Regionalists tried to proclaim independence from Europe by painting the areas that made the US great.