HCS Announces Internal Transfers and New Hires

The Halifax County Board of Education approved Ms.

Sharon Richardson for Director of the Whole Child. Ms.

Sharon Richardson has served several years as an Assistant Principal in Craven County Schools, where she has gained experience at the elementary, middle, and high school levels.

During those years, she has served as a special education teacher, Exceptional Children (EC) chairperson, EC Liaison, and the administrator over exceptional children's programs at her schools. She has been in education for over 12+ years, starting in special education as a paraprofessional. Ms.

Richardson's work as a paraprofessional ignited her passion and dedication to improving the educational success of students with "different" needs. After graduating high school, she began her career by serving eight years in the United States Marines. Ms. Richardson has a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology, Sociology, and Criminal Justice from Drury University in Missouri. In 2009, she obtained her teaching credential in Special Education in mild to moderate and moderate to severe disabilities from National University in California. In 2013, her military family moved to North Carolina from California. While living in NC, she obtained her Master's Degree in Special Education with an add-on School Administration Degree from Gardner Webb.

Creating learning environments where "all" students can be successful has been her personal goal throughout her educational career. Ms. Richardson states, "I look forward to contributing to the vision and mission of Halifax County Schools and being that "service leader" for the staff, students, and families of Halifax." Superintendent Dr. Cunningham states, "Ms. Richardson has a great exceptional children's background, and I know her contributions will serve the students of Halifax County Schools well."
