If your child is a VERY strong social studies student:

he or she could consider taking an AP history elective sophomore year like AP World History or AP Psychology.

If your child is a VERY strong science student with the proper math prerequisites:

he or she could consider taking Biology H and Chemistry H freshmen year and taking AP Earth and Environmental science sophomore year.

If your child earned Chinese, Spanish, French, or German credit in middle school:

he or she could consider taking up to the 4th course in the language or adding another elective course.
