Upon the Board's adoption of the selected instructional materials, the district arranges for the purchase of the materials. Students must not be required to buy personal or group copies of textbooks, reference books, workbooks, library books, review outlines, periodicals, etc. In addition, students must not be encouraged, through lists or discussions, to purchase materials if they will be studied or used directly in the assigned instructional program. This should not be construed as precluding teachers from encouraging students to build a personal library collection of good books.

In conjunction with the adopted educational programs, the school district will provide the following supplies as needed: composition paper, graph paper, and #2 pencils for use with standardized tests. Parents/guardians are requested to provide their student with materials such as: notebooks, pens, and pencils, markers, erasers, composition books, crayons, glue, binders, folders, colored pencils, pencil case, highlighters, index cards, post-it notes, and personal pencil sharpeners. If this request imposes a financial hardship, parents/guardians should contact the school principal for assistance.
