Invent Something That Will Help Humanity

Invent something that will help mankind. Perhaps you could create a better machine or system for cleaning plastic out of our oceans? Or maybe you could envision a safer, cleaner, and more efficient public transportation system? Whatever idea you come up with, dare to be a visionary. Be specific about your invention. Explain how your robot is going to suck microplastics from the depths of the ocean. Give details about what kind of energy is going to power your new public transportation system.

Author Malcolm Gladwell says, "The visionary starts with a clean sheet of paper, and reimagines the world." So take out your paper, and imagine a problem humans face that needs to be resolved. Then invent something to solve that problem to create a brighter and better future.
