Focus: The West Point Leadership and Ethics Conference is a free event for student leaders and educators. The participants will participate in practical exercises, demonstrations, and competitions. The ultimate goal is to help and inspire students to become leaders of character in STEM Professions.

Requirements: It is designed for 11th grade students. These students should have expressed a desire to pursue a STEM career path and have demonstrated a desire to excel academically.

Students: Will compete for top honors and recognition. Are expected to dress in the Army Service Uniform or business casual attire. Must bring writing materials. Must be prepared to demonstrate leadership skills and participate in leadership activities requiring rigorous movement, with long periods of problem-solving and critical thinking. Goal is to learn and assist your team to win.

Meals: Continental Breakfast and Lunch will be provided.
