

Honoring the Douglass School Legacy

On Wednesday, February 21, Festus High School celebrated the Legacy of the Douglass Cooperative High School in Festus. During the day, students in the high school social studies classes learned about Douglass School's integral part of the history of the Festus School District.

That night artifacts from the old school, plus news articles about the school were on display in the high school lobby during the school's boys basketball game versus St. Clair. The varsity team wore throwback Douglass Trojan uniforms during the game.

The Douglass Cooperative School was the school for African-American students in southeastern Missouri. Students from Festus, Crystal City, Herculaneum, Ste. Genevieve, Farmington, and Fredericktown all attended Douglass School. It opened in 1939 and remained open until Festus Superintendent Ralph B. Tynes began to bring students from Douglass to Festus following the landmark 1954 Brown vs The Board of Education supreme court case ending school segregation.

Letter from our Board President

Dear Patrons,

The Festus School District has another state champion among its students. Congratulations to Mya Hairston who won the District's first girl's wrestling state championship last month. In recent years, our high school athletic teams have turned out a number of state champions, including cross country team championships, individual cross country champions, baseball state champions, boys track state champions, and individual state champions in boys and girls track and field. It continues decades of proud athletic accomplishments on the field.

As successful as our teams have been, our academic successes are that much better. The Festus R-VI School District has the best APR score in Jefferson County. In fact, with a 90% score on the state of Missouri's Academic Performance Report, Festus R-VI had the 26th highest score in the entire state and the fourth highest score in the St. Louis area. Sixty-four percent of Festus students scored Proficient or Advanced in English Language Arts, 64% scored Proficient or Advanced in Math, in Social Studies it was 56%, and in Science 53%.

Success like that doesn't just happen. It is the product of hard work by teachers, students and administrators. Their daily focus on student achievement helps make it possible. Through their weekly Professional Learning Community meetings during the District's late start Wednesdays, to Professional Development days throughout the school year, our superintendents, principals and teachers continually look for enrichment opportunities for students who excel and for successful intervention strategies for those students who struggle with some topics.

Academic success also takes a community like ours that is committed to making sure our students have success, not just on the field of play, but in the classroom as well. I'm sure I speak for the entire Board of Education when I say that we thank you for the support you show the Board, our Administrators and our staff. Without your support, both at school and at home, fulfilling our mission to "Educate All Students To Meet Tomorrow's Challenges" would not be as successful as it is.

Bus Stop

In the Festus R-6 School District, ensuring the safety of students is a top priority. Recently, the district received fantastic news—earning a remarkable 90% approval rating in school bus inspections conducted by the Missouri State Highway Patrol (MSHP) which awards our district the “Fleet of Excellence” sticker. This achievement highlights the district’s unwavering commitment to providing safe and reliable transportation for students, all while fostering a friendly and supportive environment.

Festus R-6 school bus drivers are the embodiment of safety and compassion, ensuring that each child’s journey to and from school is not only secure but also filled with warmth and care. These dedicated drivers greet their young passengers with enthusiasm and kindness, setting the tone for a positive and reassuring commute. Beyond simply driving the bus, they serve as mentors and role models, instilling valuable lessons of responsibility, respect, and kindness in the hearts of the children they transport. Whether it’s helping a shy kindergartener find their seat or offering words of encouragement to a nervous student on their way to a big exam, Festus R-6 school bus drivers go above and beyond to ensure that every child feels valued and supported.

The MSHP employs a comprehensive approach to school bus inspections, meticulously assessing every aspect of the vehicles to ensure compliance with state and federal safety regulations. Trained inspectors thoroughly examine key components, including brakes, tires, lights, emergency exits, and onboard safety equipment. By adhering to stringent inspection protocols, the MSHP aims to identify and rectify any potential safety hazards, thereby minimizing the risk of accidents and ensuring the safe conveyance of students.

In conclusion, the partnership between the Festus R-6 School District and the Missouri State Highway Patrol underscores a shared commitment to ensuring safe school bus transportation for students. Through rigorous inspections, proactive maintenance efforts, collaborative partnerships, and educational initiatives, the district prioritizes student safety at every step of the transportation process. By upholding the highest standards of safety and accountability, the Festus R-6 School District continues to be a trusted steward of student well-being, exemplifying its dedication to excellence in education and transportation.

We are thrilled to announce several exciting projects funded by the E-Rate program that will significantly enhance our school's technology infrastructure and benefit all students, from our Early Childhood Center to the high school level.

What is E-Rate?

The E-Rate program, supported by the Universal Service Fund, helps schools and libraries with affordable telecommunications and internet access. This vital program ensures equitable access to technology resources for all students, regardless of their socioeconomic background.

Our E-Rate Requested Projects:

1. Increased Internet Speed: We are pleased to announce an upgrade to our school's internet speed! This substantial increase will provide smoother internet access for everyone, allowing for faster web browsing, streaming, and downloading educational resources.
2. Wireless Network Management Software: To further optimize our network performance and security, we will be implementing robust wireless network management software. This will enable efficient traffic management, improved troubleshooting capabilities, and enhanced network control.
3. Internal Fiber Cabling Replacement: Upgrading our aging internal fiber optic cabling is crucial for maintaining reliable and high-speed data transmission throughout the school. This project will ensure students and staff have uninterrupted access to essential technology tools.
4. Wireless Network Equipment at Early Childhood Center: Our Early Childhood Center will receive new wireless network equipment, offering secure and reliable internet access for our youngest learners. This will support the integration of technology into their early learning experiences.

Counselor's Corner

Our Festus R-6 Counseling Department is excited to partner with Compass to provide additional resources available to our students and families. We love our role in our students' lives providing classroom lessons, group and individual counseling, career exploration, and helping with future planning. We also know that sometimes our students' needs are more extensive than we can help with within our role as school counselors, so we are happy that we get to partner with local agencies to try to meet the needs of all our students.

Our counseling department would like to share some resources that have been made available to our students and families through our partnership with Compass Health Network. Compass currently provides a counseling liaison to all buildings once a week to meet with individual students who require more consistent individual counseling. Compass also has a small clinic in our high school to provide more traditional counseling for students including psychiatry when necessary. Recently, Compass has started providing a resource called "Community Support Specialists" which provides therapeutic based community support services to both the child and the parent or caregiver. We have a community support specialist assigned to our district to come into the buildings and work with the student and also go into the home to work with the family of students who are struggling with mental health or behavior issues.

Compass has also shared with us a Youth Behavioral Health Liaison who will assist youths and their families with finding appropriate resources and treatment options for their behavioral health needs. She has access to many resources in our county and community.

We have also had the opportunity to partner with a prevention specialist from Children's Division. This person has been attending our Attendance Support Team meetings. She has been able to assist families with resources without opening a case through Children's Division.

We are fortunate to have these partnerships with both agencies to provide additional support and programs for our students and families.

Maintenance Check

As you might have heard, campus this summer will be very busy. Middle School will see progress on the new 6th grade wing addition as well as a Rooftop unit replacement that affects 6 classrooms. We are also going to be looking at bids to continue our bathroom renovations at Middle School. If approved this will mean a new face to the main 7th and 8th grade bathrooms.

Elementary will also see several changes, first being the replacement of 18 split system units in the 3rd grade hall. This will be in conjunction with roof replacement in the same section of the building. We will also be looking at bids to finish the partial renovation of the 8 classrooms in the 1st grade stack up area.

We will be completing our phase 2 renovations at the Early Childhood Center in preparation for the program's expansion.

Coordinator of Staff and Student Wellness

In the state of Missouri, it is required for school-aged children to be immunized against vaccine-preventable diseases including diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, polio, measles, rubella, mumps, hepatitis B, and varicella or to provide proof of exemption to sustain positive health at school.

Students new to the district as well as students entering preschool, kindergarten, 8th grade, and 12th grade must submit proof of up-to-date immunizations. These can be obtained from your healthcare provider and can be hand delivered, emailed to the building nurse, or faxed to the nurse fax line at 1-636-392-4008.

We are aware of special circumstances, so if your child is eligible for an immunization exemption please submit the exemption card obtained from your healthcare provider or the Jefferson County Health Department.

Our district nurses work diligently to keep our system updated for the more than 3,000 students enrolled in the Festus R-6 School District. We appreciate your help ensuring current immunizations and immunization records for your student.

If you have any questions regarding requirements for your student, please contact me or access the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services website at health.mo.gov.

It's file destruction time. Each spring, the district mails out letters to former students who have records kept in our special education files. These students are now at least 24 years of age and the records are no longer needed. Please look for the separate notice in this edition of The Step Ahead for a detailed explanation of what records we will be destroying. Please bear in mind that we are not destroying the entire file at this time, but many of the documents and test protocols will be shredded appropriately. If you have any questions about our file destruction process or need further information, please do not hesitate to give me a call.

Kindergarten Registration This Month

Kindergarten registration for the 2024-25 school year is coming up this month and appointments are now open. Registration will be held March 14-16 at Festus Elementary School. Children who will be five-years-old on or before July 31, 2024 can attend kindergarten in the fall. Parents can make an appointment by visiting the Festus R-VI School District website at festus.k12.mo.us and clicking on the story for more information. Parents of students attending the Festus Early Childhood Center do not need to make appointments for registration because their students are being tested by Parents and Teachers. Those parents do still need to click on the story for information about completing the online portion of the process. An additional date for kindergarten registration will be added during the month of April.

Daddy-Daughter Dance

The Elementary School gym was rockin' on Saturday, February 10. That was the night of the annual Daddy-Daughter Dance. The event, sponsored by the Elementary PTO gives the elementary school girls a chance to spend quality time with their dads, or other important men in their lives. In the spring the PTO will also sponsor an event for the elementary school boys and their moms or special women in their lives.

Play Unified Basketball

Sixth grade students played in the annual "Play Unified" basketball game on Friday, February 23. Play Unified brings together high school students and sixth grade students of all abilities to forge relationships. The high school student council students organize the basketball game and coach the sixth graders for eight weeks. It culminates with a game in front of the rest of the sixth grade students in the gym. The high school cheerleaders and jazz band help make the atmosphere extra special.

Festus Intermediate School is helping to build an archery program in the Festus School District. Beginning in the fifth grade, students at the intermediate school can begin archery instruction after school. Thanks to a grant from the Missouri Conservation Department, and with help from NASP, the National Archery in Schools Program, teachers Austin Burgert and Jill Braddy are teaching students how to properly handle a bow and arrow and how to shoot. Nearly 60 5th and 6th grade students took part in the program this winter. Burgert and Braddy hope to one day expand the program into the Middle School.

Kindness Counts at FIS

Students and faculty celebrated Kindness Counts Month February 5th through February 28th. The theme this year was "Building A Great Wall of Kindness."

Students had the opportunity to fill out "Kindness Notes" and place them on the Kindness Wall displayed in the foyer throughout the month of February, recognizing other students and staff that have shown them kindness.

Students had an opportunity to fill out "Kindness Notes" in their classrooms as well. Every classroom door was decorated with a Kindness Poster and students posted kindness notes all around their posters to recognize fellow classmates.

In addition to all the beautiful displays of kindness at the Intermediate School this month the classes also played Kindness Bingo. Each classroom had a bingo card. During the daily announcements, the office called out a "Kind Act of the Day." Classes with the act on their card marked it off. All students were encouraged to put that kind act into action each day. The first class to bingo was Mrs. Tate's fifth grade class. Also during the daily announcements, students and staff recited the "Kindness Mantra."

It was a great month celebrating quality character traits that we hope to instill in our students for a lifetime.

High School and Beyond Was A Huge Success

On January 31, Festus High School and the FHS counselors hosted a night designed to help students, and their parents, prepare for the rest of their high school career and beyond. Hundreds of students and their parents attended. The night included a large meeting with eighth grade students and parents to discuss the transition from middle school to high school. Teachers were also available to speak with students and parents from all grades to discuss class offerings and what is expected of students. Small breakout sessions were also available that touched on a variety of topics including dual credit and AP classes, the A+ program, college recruitment, a look at the various clubs and activities at FHS, how parents can track their students' academic progress, and so much more. Counselors and administrators say they were extremely happy with the new, improved format.

SME Program Gives FHS Students Real-World Work Experience

Festus High School students are gaining some real-world work experience and earning high school credit through a program that is gaining rave reviews among students. The class is called the Supervised Marketing Experience or SME. It's a program approved by the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) that spells out clear objectives for the class. It provides on-the-job work experience while attending school. Students get the opportunity to leave school as early as one o'clock on a school day in exchange for working at least ten or 20 hours per week. According to DESE "Students can make connections with real world expectations in terms of accuracy of work, production, staying on task, and responsibility for work... The SME program facilitates the transition from the classroom to the workplace." Seniors Madison Austin and Sophia Hensley are two of about 30 Festus High School students in the SME program this school year. Austin works different positions at the Festus Schnucks and Hensley is a teller at Bloomsdale Bank in Crystal City.

The SME program has two different levels. There's the 20-hour program and a 10-hour program. Students working at least 20-hours per week are allowed to leave school at 12:55 every day. Students in the ten-hour program work between ten and 20 hours per week and are allowed to leave school at 1:45. Students are supervised by the program's teacher, Mr. Rob Propst. "They are required to work those hours and provide pay stubs to verify they have completed their requirements," he says. "Along with pay stubs, students are asked to complete assignments related to different aspects of the business world. The assignments are geared toward bringing up topics that they may not really think about when it comes to working in a job or career like, safety instructions, internal communication methods, the role of human resources, or the role of the government in their particular job, just to name a few." Austin says those assignments help them with real world experiences, "I feel like that teaches us all responsibility and accountability."

Propst says the program has a lot to offer students, both tangible and intangible, "Students gain real world experience, earn money for themselves and their families and get out of school a little earlier than everyone else. They also can earn up to 2 elective credits that could really help their GPA." Austin and Hensley say the program also helps them manage their time more efficiently. "Going into senior year I only needed my English credit and so I just think the SME program is valuable because I am able to not take up all my time getting credits that are not beneficial to me," said Austin. "I can use that time more wisely, in my eyes, which is going to work and making more money which is something I am passionate about." Hensley, who works at Bloomsdale Bank, says without the program, she would not be working where she does now, "I now work at a job that closes at five so if I wasn't in the SME program I wouldn't get any hours at all"

Through both the SME program and other classes and programs at Festus High School, students are able to get a look at different careers and learn more about what interests them. Hensley says her experience in the SME program changed her mind about what she wants to do in the future, "I always wanted to be a teacher until I got into Mr. Propst's classes, until I took accounting here at school." Hensley continued, "If I would have never done marketing I would have never thought about becoming an accountant. So it really helped set me up and we have people who actually work in our bank who are accountants, so they teach me a lot about numbers and all of that stuff." Austin says the program helped give her ideas about what to pursue in the future, "Something that I really want to look into whenever I go to college is becoming a financial manager. Mr. Propst has really let us dig deeper into our jobs with the assignments. Getting a broader perspective. With senior year I'm trying to figure out what I want to do and math is something I'm interested in and bookkeeping was one of those things that was a light bulb and I thought that might be a good experience."

Senior Sophia Hensley working as a teller at Bloomsdale Bank.

Both Austin and Hensley say they wholeheartedly recommend this program to students and the numbers show the class is growing in popularity. "I feel like it's really beneficial for the people who have that strong work ethic and want to work and want to make money and support themselves," said Austin. "Having the extra time to work helps me to save money. So I am really grateful for this experience." Hensley says the assignments digging deeper into her job make it worthwhile, "I think it's really good. That way it isn't just a program just to leave school early, it's more about figuring out stuff about other people's main career and how you can get forward with that." Propst says the success he has seen has been fantastic, "The popularity continues to grow with each semester and hopefully we can somehow expand what we offer for our students."

For the 2nd year in a row, the boys soccer team has received the “Team Ethics and Sportsmanship Award” from the United Soccer Coaches Association. The association says the award “recognizes teams that exhibit fair play, sporting behavior and adherence to the laws of the game, as reflected by the number of yellow caution cards or red ejection cards they are shown by referees throughout the season.” It is determined by taking the total number of yellow and red cards the team received and dividing it by the number of games played. The boys soccer team received a bronze award for receiving cards in 31%-50% of its matches. Festus was just one of 72 boys and girls teams to receive the award in the fall.
