Crawfordsville Community Schools Course Description

Making Connections Grade 2 - High Ability

MASTER 3/24/2023

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will be exposed to a wide variety of reading experiences including picture books, chapter books, reference books, magazines, and digital content. Students will explore a variety of genres to help them become independent readers, explore new ideas, and appreciate the world around them. Students will be given opportunities to work as a whole class, in small groups, and independently in order to develop good communication skills and become independent learners.

Students will listen to mentor texts, be provided with time and assistance to pursue their own reading interests and engage with challenging texts while developing oral and written response skills. Additionally, students will read selections from the Jr. Great Book to develop skills in Socratic discussion and learn how to respond to an open-ended essay question.

Critical thinking and independent research skills will be emphasized in group work and independently. Students will utilize the Six Traits of Writing to become independent writers. They will also use the natural link between reading and writing to expand their skills in both areas. Reading and writing will also be integrated into other content areas, such as social studies and science.

Formal grammar instruction will be introduced through daily language reviews and specific teacher-designed lessons. Building Language will introduce the students to Latin stems to expand vocabulary and help students decode and understand multisyllabic words. The Building Spelling Skills series will allow students to have individualized spelling lists based on spelling inventories and application in writing.

DIFFERENTIATED DISTRICT-WIDE GOALS

The high-ability student will maximize their gifted potential by pursuing a challenging, differentiated curriculum which will accelerate their learning experiences allowing them to become an independent yet interactive learner and leader.

The high-ability student will learn from accelerated methods, materials, and experiences that will prepare them to become an independent producer of original and successful products that will satisfy individual and societal needs.

The high-ability student will become more aware of the needs they have in common with others and will utilize this knowledge to relate in a positive manner with peers and others.

The high-ability students will participate in an individualized, leveled reading program using various genres that will utilize small-group instruction to support each student's reading, comprehension, and vocabulary development. The program will help students develop greater control over the reading process through the development of reading strategies that assist in decoding and constructing meaning.

DIFFERENTIATED LEARNER OBJECTIVES

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will participate in Socratic discussions and written responses to improve their ability to listen and communicate with others.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will create a quarterly portfolio of writing that demonstrates a variety of writing skills.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will produce a research project using the Big Six Research Process.

The second-grade high-ability students will practice oral communication by explaining thoughts, presenting ideas, and retelling stories.

COURSE CONCEPTS

People communicate through reading, writing, listening, and speaking in order to express ideas and learn from each other.

Reading a wide variety of books and genres will help us learn new information, provide entertainment, understand points of view, engage in critical thinking, and become more empathetic.

Developing writing skills will help us express our opinion, pass on information clearly, and communicate effectively.

MAJOR CONCEPTS

Experiencing a wide variety of creativity in literature can inspire us to improve our own reading and writing.

Identifying and understanding creativity in literature will provide examples to enable students to become creative thinkers, problem solvers, and writers.

Developing our own creativity will help us express ourselves and communicate our unique abilities.

CONTENT OUTLINE

I. Creativity is an important element in award-winning literature and mentor books.

- A. Authors use creativity in the plot, storylines, characters, illustrations, and layout.
- B. Different types of literature exhibit different types of creativity.
 - 1. Fiction gives free rein to creativity in each aspect of the story.
 - 2. The author of non-fiction must use creativity in deciding the most effective way to present material for the intended audience.

C. Evidence of creativity in the actual prose may be seen in the use of exaggeration, fantasy, ambiguity, metaphors, analogies, comparisons, alliteration, and onomatopoeia.

- II. Creativity in writing can provide readers with important life lessons
 - A. Literature provides opportunities for us to reflect and inspires us to think in new ways.
 - B. Literature helps us learn to empathize with other people.
 - C. Nonfiction provides us with the opportunity to utilize and apply new information.

III. Developing our own creativity will help us explore ideas and expand our possibilities.

- A. Developing an idea in our mind demands considering a range of possibilities.
- B. Determining the best solution develops our sense of reasoning and evaluation.
- C. Being creative about the best way to reach an audience improves our communication with others.

DIFFERENTIATED ACTIVITIES

INTRODUCTORY ACTIVITIES

Students will write self-introductions and create paper dolls of themselves incorporating unique talents and interests. They will display the finished product and discuss commonalities and diversity. (2.RV.1, 2.W.1, 2.W2.1, 2.W.3.2, 2.W.3.3, 2.SL.1, 2.SL.2.1, 2.SL.2.3, 2.SL.2.4, 2.SL.2.5, 2.SL.4.1)

Students will research Caldecott award-winning authors and illustrators. (2.RF.3.1, 2RF 3.2, 2RF.3.3, 2.RF.3.4, 2.RF.3.5, 2.RF.4.1, 2RF4.2, 2RF4.3, 2RF4.4, 2.RF4.5, 2.RF.4.6, 2.RL.1, 2.RL.2.1, 2.RL.2.2, 2.RL.2.3, 2RL.4.1, 2.RN.1, 2.RN.2.1, 2.RN.2.2, 2.RN.4.1, 2.RN.4.2, 2.RV.2.1, 2.RV.2.2, 2.RV.2.4, 2.RV, 2.W.5) Students will analyze artwork, features, and illustrations in picture books and discuss how visual images can provide greater understanding of the text . (2.RF.3.1, 2RF 3.2, 2RF.3.3, 2.RF.3.4, 2.RF.3.5, 2.RF.4.1, 2RF4.2, 2RF4.3, 2RF4.4, 2.RF4.5, 2.RF.4.6, 2.RL.1, 2.RL.2.1, 2.RL.2.2, 2.RL.2.3, 2.RL.4.1, 2.RN.1, 2.RN.2.1, 2.RN.2.2, 2.RN.4.1, 2.RN.4.2, 2.RV.2.1, 2.RV.2.2, 2.RV.2.4,)

Students will listen to mentor texts, identify story elements, structure, and organization. Comprehension will be demonstrated through a reader's response journal, (2.RL.2.1, 2. RL.2.2, 2.RL.2.3, 2.RL.2.4, 2RL.3.1, 2.RV.3.2, 2.W.1, 2.W.2. 1, 2.SL.1, 2.SL.3.1, 2.SL.3.2)

Students will listen to a book such as What do Authors Do? by Eileen Christlowe or How This Book was Made by Adam Rex. Students will take part in a group discussion on how a book is created. CULMINATING ACTIVITIES

Students will research Caldecott Award-winning authors and illustrators. They will create stories and artwork inspired by Caldecott Award-winning authors and illustrators and compile them into a Caldecott pocketbook portfolio. Students will then evaluate and select pieces from the portfolio to share with peers. (2.W.1, 2.W.2, 2.W.3, 2.W.4, 2.W.6.1, 2.W.6.2, SL.2.1, 2.SL.2.3, 2.SL.2.4, 2.SL.2.5,)

Students will collaborate with a small group and create a reader's theater script, puppet show, or comic strip adapted from a familiar story or song. They will share presentations with other students. (2.W.1, 2.W.2, 2.W.3, 2.W.4, 2.W.6.1, 2.W.6.2, SL.2.1, 2.SL.2.3, 2.SL.2.4, 2.SL.2.5,)

Students will create an original story to share with peers and parents. (2.W.1, 2.W.2, 2.W.3, 2.W.4, 2.W.6.1, 2.W.6.2, SL.2.1, 2.SL.2.3, 2.SL.2.4, 2.SL.2.5,)

Students will create and publish a classroom book of jump rope rhymes. Students will read the original rhyme orally as the author jumps rope to his/her rhyme. (2.W.1, 2.W.2, 2.W.3, 2.W.4, 2.W.6.1, 2.W.6.2)

Students will self-select fiction and nonfiction books and respond independently. Responses will include writing a book review, writing a letter to a character, analyzing a fiction book, analyzing a non-fiction book, and responding to a magazine article. (2.RF.3.1, 2RF 3.2, 2RF.3.3, 2.RF.3.4, 2.RF.3.5, 2.RF.4.1, 2RF4.2, 2RF4.3, 2RF4.4, 2.RF4.5, 2.RF.4.6, 2.RL.1, 2.RL.2.1, 2.RL.2.2, 2.RL.2.3, 2.RN.1, 2.RN.2.1, 2.RN.2.2, 2.RN.4.1, 2.RN.4.2, 2.RV.2.1, 2.RV.2.2, 2.RV.2.4, 2.W.3.1)

Students will read and respond to assigned literature. (2.RF.3.1, 2RF 3.2, 2RF.3.3, 2.RF.3.4, 2.RF.3.5, 2.RF.4.1, 2RF4.2, 2RF4.3, 2RF4.4, 2.RF4.5, 2.RF.4.6, 2.RL.1, 2.RL.2.1, 2.RL.2.2, 2.RL.2.3, 2.RN.1, 2.RN.2.1, 2.RN.2.2, 2.RN.4.1, 2.RN.4.2, 2.RV.2.1, 2.RV.2.2, 2.RV.2.4)

Students will write their own variation of "The Gingerbread Man" by choosing unique story elements to develop their ideas. Students will share stories with the class. (2.W.1, 2.W.2, 2.W.3, 2.W.4, 2.W.6.1, 2.W.6.2, SL.2.1, 2.SL.2.3, 2.SL.2.4, 2.SL.2.5,)

EVALUATION

The Caldecott pocket portfolios inspired by award-winning literature will be evaluated by the teacher with feedback given during individual conferences. Points for participation and completion will be awarded.

The group writing projects will be evaluated informally through student and teacher feedback.

Original stories will be evaluated by the teacher using a point-based rubric.

Jump rope rhymes will be evaluated on a point system based on participation and completion.

Reading responses, including comprehension tests, will be evaluated by the teacher based on a point system.

Words To Live By High-Ability grade 2

DIFFERENTIATED DISTRICT-WIDE GOALS

The high-ability student will maximize their gifted potential by pursuing a challenging, differentiated curriculum which will accelerate their learning experiences allowing them to become an independent yet interactive learner and leader.

The high-ability student will learn from accelerated methods, materials, and experiences that will prepare them to become an independent producer of original and successful products that will satisfy individual and societal needs.

The high-ability student will become more aware of the needs they have in common with others and will utilize this knowledge to relate in a positive manner with peers and others.

The high-ability students will participate in an individualized, leveled reading program using various genres that will utilize small-group instruction to support each student's reading, comprehension, and vocabulary development. The program will help students develop greater control over the reading process through the development of reading strategies that assist in decoding and constructing meaning.

DIFFERENTIATED LEARNER OBJECTIVES

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will understand that cultures and individuals create stories to pass on traditions, values, and beliefs.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will identify morals, lessons, and themes in traditional literature

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will create narrative writing inspired by traditional literature and personal experiences.

MAJOR CONCEPTS

Traditional folklore and contemporary literature can serve as a means of transmitting culture and mores from one generation to the next

Reading, listening, and discussing stories by individuals and cultures different from our own can help us develop perspective and appreciate differences.

Traditional literature has been adapted and recorded to entertain readers and share culture and beliefs with new audiences.

CONTENT OUTLINE

I. Stories are universal

- A. Every culture has stories to tell.
- B. Stories form the basis for how we think about the world and live our lives.
- II. Stories help us understand our world, our community, and ourselves.
 - A. Authors choose specific words and language to express themselves when writing stories
 - B. Discussing and responding to stories in writing helps us find deeper meaning and understanding of stories.
 - C. Understanding an author's perspective can give us a greater understanding of a story or idea.

III. We can use our own experiences to create stories and share them with others.

DIFFERENTIATED LEARNER OBJECTIVES

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will identify text features and structures while engaging with a variety of nonfiction texts.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will understand and apply the research process while collaborating with other students.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will demonstrate an understanding of basic story structure and elements when creating narrative stories.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will use storytelling techniques to present a story from the oral tradition with classmates.

MAJOR CONCEPTS

Reading and listening to nonfiction about other cultures, places, and ideas helps us develop awareness, empathy, and compassion for others and reflect on our own contributions to society.

Nonfiction texts contain text features and structures that help us understand facts and information.

The research process often leads to new questions, new ideas, and changes or confirms our thoughts and actions.

Storytelling is the oldest form of human communication.

CONTENT OUTLINE

I. Reading and listening to nonfiction fosters continuous learning about ourselves, others, and our place in the world

- A. Nonfiction helps build background knowledge
- B. Nonfiction builds content vocabulary
- C. Nonfiction helps students make connections to the natural world
- D. Nonfiction exposes students to new ideas
- II. Nonfiction text features help organize and find important information
 - A. Table of Contents, Index, Glossary
 - B. Subtitles
 - D. Illustrations, photographs, labels, and captions
 - F. Graphics and maps
 - G. Bold and italics

III. The research process provides a framework for locating, organizing, and disseminating information

- A. Task definition
- B. Information seeking
- C. Locate resources
- D. Find information
- E. Synthesis (understand, utilize, form an opinion, create something new)
- F. Reflection

IV. Storytelling provides students with the opportunity to integrate communication skills with reading and writing concepts.

A. Storytelling gives students an opportunity for oral speaking in a fun and entertaining way.

B. Storytelling reinforces important foundational reading and writing elements such as introductions, beginning, middle, and end, and conclusions.

C. Storytelling conveys culture, themes in literature, and provides background knowledge for common references tied to folktales.

Finding Inspiration High-Ability Grade 2

DIFFERENTIATED DISTRICT-WIDE GOALS

The high-ability student will maximize their gifted potential by pursuing a challenging, differentiated curriculum which will accelerate their learning experiences allowing them to become an independent yet interactive learner and leader.

The high-ability student will learn from accelerated methods, materials, and experiences that will prepare them to become an independent producer of original and successful products that will satisfy individual and societal needs.

The high-ability student will become more aware of the needs they have in common with others and will utilize this knowledge to relate in a positive manner with peers and others.

The high-ability students will participate in an individualized, leveled reading program using various genres that will utilize small-group instruction to support each student's reading, comprehension, and vocabulary development. The program will help students develop greater control over the reading process through the development of reading strategies that assist in decoding and constructing meaning.

DIFFERENTIATED LEARNER OBJECTIVES

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will study and compare accomplished individuals in order to engage in class discussion and realize accomplishments are affected by life experiences.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will identify personal strengths and ways strengths can have positive impacts on their classroom, school, and community.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will research the key factors contributing to the success of an influential person. Students will research and create a project to share.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will interview an important person and create a biography of the person.

The second-grade high-ability student in language arts will be able to explain the connections between the character traits and actions of a character in a fictional story.

MAJOR CONCEPTS

Knowing an influential person's story can inspire us to do great things.

Learning about an individual's strengths, weaknesses, victories, and challenges can inspire us to think about how our accomplishments can benefit our family, classroom, school, and community.

An important person in your life can play a positive role in developing strengths, setting goals, and achieving accomplishments

CONTENT OUTLINE

I. Inspiration is the process of being mentally stimulated to imagine, create, invent, improve, and innovate.

II. Biographies provide a unique opportunity for the reader to be inspired by a person's accomplishments

A. Examining the story of a person's life provides the background to his/her accomplishments

- 1. Childhood
- 2. Adulthood
- 2. Education
- 3. Original ideas
- 4. Strengths and weaknesses
- 5. Inspirations
- 6. Achievements
- 7. Hardships

B. Reading biographies can provide opportunities to identify common threads necessary for accomplishment.

- 1. All accomplishments require an idea first.
- 2. Most accomplishments require dedication to the idea.
- 3. Accomplishments that fulfill a societal need are often recognized.

III. Learning and recording the important events in an influential person's life can help inspire us to accomplish our own goals.

IV. Examining and understanding the character traits of fictional characters can help us understand the things that motivate us and others.

DIFFERENTIATED ACTIVITIES

This pool of activities has been designed to differentiate the curriculum for high-ability students. You may choose from this list or add new and original activities.
