

Dem Bones

We are going back to old school and craft time – you will be assembling a skeleton from a variety of pasta shells and beans to configure anatomically correct features of the skeletal system. You will glue them to a darker piece of construction paper (not black because I won't be able to see your labeling) and label accordingly the parts that I need you to know for the front OR back of the skeleton. You may also “pose” the skeleton instead of just standard anatomical pose and you need to draw a “scene” for it to be in. We are doing ours close to Halloween.

You can also chose to label him this way instead of the standard labeling with an arrow
