Seniors Receive Diplomas at Pre-Recorded Graduation

by Kylie Risetter

Let's just begin by saying that the last quarter of the school year was really outdone by the seniors with "skip day!" As students approached the end of the school year, many were still trying to figure out what was going on with graduation and how to approach this special day.

The Class of 2020 was supposed to graduate May 16. But, with COVID-19 going on throughout the world, the school came up with a way around the virus, keep social distancing in mind and give seniors a memorable graduation that the students worked so hard for and deserved. This graduation was not only unusual but also unique and something the seniors will never forget!

On May 11, seniors reported to the school three at a time to check in their computers and have their formal graduation walk through across the stage like they have dreamed of since they were kids. They wore their caps and gowns and received their diplomas from school board president Jay Esser.

Mr. Tommy Gregg recorded each graduate as well as the class speakers, Max Baloun and Tanner Wright. Georgia Kuehn also delivered the invocation. All of the recordings were made into a video that will be played at the Pheasant City Drive-In on May 16.

On May 16 at 7p.m., the class of 2020 will have a parade with their cars decorated.

Following the parade, the students and their families will go out to the Pheasant City Drive Inn where their senior video and graduation will be presented on the big screen.

After receiving her diploma, Angel Wren was met on stage by her parents, Angela and Tracy, who then presented her with a traditional star quilt.

Max Baloun speaks about making it to the "big screen" and taking part in the first-ever pre-recorded graduation at RHS. He urges his classmates not to be afraid to make mistakes.

School board president Jay Esser presents Emma Kopplin with her high school diploma. Distancing was stressed, nobody shook hands, and no more than ten people were allowed in the auditorium in accordance with CDC guidelines.

How Covid-19 Changed When Everything Changes Education at RHS

by Kiara Terry

Covid-19 took a major toll on the last quarter of the 2020 school year. This meant the school board and teachers would have to come up with a way to improvise academics. Many of the teachers found the best way to continue educating their students is through the use of different online sites. Classes have been carried out through sites such as Schoology, Google Classroom, Zoom, Outlook, etc. However, this new form of learning might not be the easiest on everyone.

To learn about the experience high school students are having with distance learning, a short survey was sent out to the students, where received 72 sponses. The survey concluded that 42 percent of students spend 1-2 hours a day on schoolwork, percent spend 3-4 hours, and the 18 percent spend anywhere between 5-8 hours.

Alison Larson said "It has been really stressful learning and teaching myself some of the class materials. I am also taking dual credit courses so trying to get all of my work for every class puts a lot of weight on my shoulders. It really helps having other things to take my mind off of schoolwork, even though they sometimes turn into distractions."

In the survey, students were also asked what they have been doing in their free time. Top answers in order from most to least popular are watching movies/shows, sleeping, scrolling through social meeating/snacking, walks outside, video games, and baking. Other students said that they have been on their work schedules through this pandemic.

The survey was also used to get a grasp of how many students have been seeing members outside of their families. The survey concluded that 47 percent of students are practicing distancing, social while the other 53 percent are not.

A similar survey was sent out to the high school teachers to understand what they are experiencing during this time. The teachers asked how were well the students were handling dislearning. Most of the teachers said that the majority of the students in their classes are getting their work done well and on time, while a short percentage said half of them are doing great but the other half struggles.

When the teachers were asked if they were more stressed with online learning their responses were dispersed. Over 50 percent of the teachers are more stressed with online teaching, 28 percent said they are not stressed at all, and 14 percent not much has changed from the normal school year.

To get a better look at the daily life of our teachers they were asked what they do in the free time. The survey showed that many of the teachers have a similar structure to their day. A lot of the response showed that they have been spending more time checking their emails and find it hard to leave their

Everyone thought that the year 2020 would be perfect; I know I did, but by the middle of March, we were hit with something extremely dangerous. I am a senior and 2020 was my last year of high school, but when the corona virus made its way to the United States, my whole year would change. My senior year was cut short when the pandemic came to South Dakota, and after that I was told to social distance. The governor had sent out a message stating that people should stay 6 feet away from each other and only in groups of 10 or less. After that I have stayed home for a while, but to be honest it was very harmful to my mental health. To help with feelings of loneliness, I found a way to enjoy my friends' company while still staying 6 feet part. I go to my friend's house, but I do not go inside, I stand outside and talk with her through the windows. I know that this is a situation that needs to be taken seriously.

Austin Haider logs on to Schoology to access his assignments for English class. Students read a novel and completed assignments on-line during 4th quarter.

computers sides. Many of them have used their free time to go on walks and get more exercise than they usually would in a school day. Others have been watching tv, cooking, reading, doing artwork, and working on selfcare. One of the teachers has even been spending their time sowing masks for the hospital!

Covid-19 turned the academic world into something completely new for everyone. From the survey that was conducted we were able to hear from many students and teachers. This gave RHS a better look at how everyone is handling the academic side of the destruction caused by the pandemic.

What education in the future will look when school resumes in the fall is yet to be determined.

Students Sum Up Thoughts on Covid Cancellations

Spring isn't what RHS athletes imagined it to be. By now, spring sports are usually in full swing with athletes going to meets and games with their eyes set on state. However, with the COVID-19 pandemic, spring season for track, girls' golf, and baseball have been canceled. Here are some words from the coaches and athletes:

"Having the girls golf season canceled due to the pandemic is greatly disappointing. I truly enjoy working with the girls and seeing them improve in all areas of the game. But I will mostly miss spending time with the girls and seeing them have fun! I have challenged the girls to continue to play. They have practice sheets to record their efforts. Golf is one of the few activities / sports that we are allowed to do, and I hope the girls take advantage of that and get out to practice and play and enjoy the game!" girls' golf coach, Mark Schaffer.

"I'm sad that the season didn't happen this year. It would have been nice to continue to get better and hanging out with Schaffer." - Soph-Chelsea omore Smith, girls' golf

"This all feels like a bad dream, not sure how we got here! The safety of our athletes, coaches and fans comes first. I understand that decisions made to cancel our spring baseball season were made with the best interest and safety of all involved. This is probably a hard decision for our athletes to come to grips with but at the end of the day, I know they understand and sometimes there are things that are bigger than sports." head baseball coach. Tommv Gregg.

"It's very sad to say goodbye to the sport you love and to have to say this goodbye so soon. I'll miss practicing and playing the game with my team." - senior Leyton Rohlfs, baseball

"It's tough not being able to play baseball and see my friends, but my brothers and I have been continuing to work on our skills to better our game." - sophomore Peyton Osborn, baseball

"The athletes, the coaches and myself are all disappointed about the loss of our season. I had high hopes for our team this year as we had many state place winners returning this year, as well as many other excellent kids returning. Coach Erickson and myself are still having the kids complete various workouts to help them stay in shape and break-up the monotony of quarantine life. I would like to thank our seniors Gannon Pudwill and Dylan Stephens for all the hard work they have put in the last few years and I wish them the best of luck as they head off to college." - head track coach, Aaron Lonneman

"Not participating in the 2020 track season because of Covid-19 was hard think Track is one of my favorite sports, so not being able to have one practice or even step out on the track this year made me sad. Being a senior this year I wanted to leave my mark especially on the track team. I still enjoy running and working out, but it doesn't make up for the loss of a season. I never thought that the 2019 state meet would be the last time I ever put my spikes on. I would do anything to have one more track meet. I wish the best of luck to next year's track athletes." - senior Gannon Pudwill.

Basketball Players Receive End-of-Season Honors

by Tori Weinreis

Senior Kailee Clausen was a part of the All-Northeast Conference lection. The stats for her season this year are a 15.1 ppg, 5.5 rpg, 3.8 spg, and a 3.7

"Kailee had outstanding an senior season, leading in us scoring, assists and steals. Her ability to shoot the ball from the perimeter to score off the dribble made her a matchup nightmare for opposing teams. She showed on many nights her ability to make an impact on each game in many statistical categories. They were a big part of the teams success, not only this season, but the past couple of seasons as well," head coach Tommy Gregg said.

Junior Jaxson Frankenstein was also a part of the All-Northeast Conference selections. This year he had a 13 ppg, 7.6 rpg, and a 53% fg.

Head coach Lonni Stover "Jaxson said. had a great junior year for us this season. He has worked hard on improving his game, and has himself made into a complete and very good player/leader for

FCCLA Members Go Virtual with National Conference

by Abby Evans

FCCLA members usually spend May raising money through fundraisers and projects to help pay their way towards Nationals in July. However, members that made it to nationals have been given the news that FCCLA will only be holding a virtual national conference due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Members are still given the opportunity to compete in star events, competitive events, run for office, host workshops, and more, but will have to do so behind a computer screen.

The Redfield Lifesmarts Knowledge Bowl team including Breanna Roth, Olivia Owens, Bridgette Lambert, Noel Kastner, and Lilly Blume now have to record a video answering knowledge bowl questions that will be sent to nationals and scored. These ladies will miss out on the opportunity to compete head on with teams from across the nation.

Other FCCLA members that placed Top Overall at the state conference with their STAR Events are still given the opportunity to compete virtually online. Junior, Abby Evans will compete at nationals in the STAR Event Chapter

Service Project Display – level 3. Senior, Emma Kopplin and Racheal Schmitt will compete in their STAR Event, FC-CLA Chapter Website Design – Level 3

The Redfield FC-CLA chapter also received National Runner Up for the Families First Award for a project completed by the chapter. They received a plaque and a cash prize of $500. For the virtual national conference, chapter members Abby Evans, Lilly Blume, and Breanna Roth participated in Spotlight on Projects, where they recorded a presentation of the project.

Sophomore Breanna Roth will virtually participate in Red Talk which is a presentation that highlights a Career pathway or National Program. She will also attend state officer training, after being newly elected as the SD VP of Programs, and will be one of South Dakota's voting delegates to vote for incoming national officers.

Senior Hannah Owens will continue to carry out all her national First VP of Competitive Events responsibilities virtually, from opening session, workshops, planning, recognition session, and closing session.

FCCLA adviser, Mrs. Brace commented, "Covid 19 has affected so many things this year and FCCLA State and National meetings were not immune to it. With strong desire and determination on both levels FCCLA members were able to compete through this virtual avenue. leadership Strong has been shown through the members who competed. Zoom meetings, recording videos, and computers were essential items to help ensure the meetings success. Watching on a computer takes some of the fun and excitement from being at state meeting in Sioux Falls or at National meeting in Washington DC, but I am so proud the members who stepped up and showcased their leadership talents."

FCCLA members Breanna Roth, Abby Evans and Lilly Blume meet at the school to practice their presentation with Mrs. Brace.

Going on a Bear Hunt: Families Find Fun Amid Pandemic

by Abree Taylor

Places across the country have been taking part in this thing called the "Bear Hunt" that has spread from city to city.

This COVID-19 outbreak has caused shops to shut down and schools to close. Finding something fun for families to do gives kids and even adults something to look forward to.

What exactly is the bear hunt? People placed teddy bears in their windows at home or at their businesses around town. Kids and their families could go on a scavenger hunt to find as many bears as they could.

Freshman Tovi Quenzer stated, "The scavenger hunt was fun, and I looked forward to seeing all of the families partake!"

The bear hunt was a fun activity to do while not being in school, and it gave families something to do together. Even adults in the community liked seeing all the bears in the windows as well.

Beary Special. Middle School / High School Principal Kendra Becker snaps a picture of a bear in the window of a Redfield Business. Families could go on the scavenger hunt to find as many bears as they could in the homes and businesses throughout Redfield as a fun activity to help relieve the stress caused by the Covid-19 pandemic.
