Principal's Corner

Hi Folks,

We continue to roll right along. April is the primary month for end of the year, summative tests. Students are currently taking the national MAP test, soon to be followed by Wyoming's WY-TOPP assessment (formally PAWS). I look forward to the results.

Due to Easter vacation and Teacher In-service, students first day back in April will be Wednesday, April 4th. I've always believed that once we get into April, hang on, because things seem to pick up momentum heading towards the end of the year.

If you didn't get a chance to attend the Talent Show recently put on by our students, you missed a real treat. It was enjoyed immensely and the talent displayed was impressive. It was just a lot of fun.

Our track numbers in both the high school and middle school seem to be up from previous years. This is encouraging. Just a reminder that we can always use more and it's an excellent opportunity for students to get exercise and be part of a team. It's not about winning, but getting better, and our track coaches do a good job of emphasizing this. Participating in extra-curricular activities is a great way to build self-esteem and contribute to school spirit.

It is just hard to believe we will soon be talking graduation and year-end field trips, etc.

It has been a good year.

State Art Symposium

Good Luck to our Art students who will be competing in the State Art Symposium in Casper this month. The symposium is open to the public Friday, April 20th from 9:00AM to 4:00PM and Saturday, April 21st 9:00AM to noon. It is the only show like it in the nation where all the schools in the state compete against one another.

Hot Lunch

Student meals are $2.00 for K-6, $2.50 for 7-12 and extra milk is $.25.

The total for the month of April meals for grades K-6 will be $38.00. 7-12 will be $47.50. By state law, the school cannot extend credit.

If you didn't receive an application for free and reduced lunches and would like one, please contact the office.

4 H News

4 H Carnival time is here and will be held at the Washakie County Fair Grounds on Friday, April 13th from 5:00-8:30PM. Everyone is welcome!

4-H members and their families, please bring 2 cakes for the cake-walk and sign up to work a shift. There will be an email with further details sent to 4-H families.

'Quick writes' make writing fun for elementary schoolers

Writing can be hard work. But a quick write is a fun and easy way to encourage your child to get his ideas down on paper.

Quick writes are just what they sound like—writing that people do in short periods of time. Usually, a quick write is based on a question or an idea. You ask a challenging question and set the timer for five minutes. Then both you and your child write down everything you can before the timer beeps.

Once the quick write is finished, compare what each of you has written. The next time, let your child choose the quick-write topic.

Here are some quick-write ideas:

- Would it be a good or a bad idea if dogs could talk? Why?
- The best birthday I can imagine would be ...
- If I were invisible, I would ...
- It was a stormy day, so I decided to ...
- Zebras have stripes because ...
- Ten years from now, I will be ...
- I invented the most amazing machine. It can ...
- When I woke up this morning, I was a different person. I was ...

Even students who usually stare into space when it's time for a writing assignment may like a quick write. They are often surprised to discover just how much they know or have to say about a particular subject. Your child will gain confidence when he sees how much he can write in just a few minutes.

Give your child three test-taking strategies that lead to success

Whether it's a short quiz or a high-stakes standardized test, testing is a fact of life. To help your child succeed, encourage him to:

1. Read the directions carefully. This will keep him from making simple and avoidable mistakes. The directions could say, "Answer two of these four questions." Or they could say that some multiple choice questions have more than one correct answer. (Even if he gets the final answer wrong, perhaps he could get partial credit for showing his work.)
2. Use time wisely. Encourage your child to read through the entire test before answering any questions. Then, he should budget his time. If the essay question is worth 50 points, he will know how much time to allow. He'll also know if he's spending too much time on a single question.
3. Using time wisely also means using all the time available. Some students treat tests like a race—they want to be first across the finish line. Teach your middle schooler to use any extra time to check his work.
4. Answer the easy questions first. Getting off to a strong start can give your child the confidence he needs to tackle tougher questions. Answering the easier questions first may also remind your child of a fact or two he'll need to answer the more difficult questions.

Show your teen how to master essay tests in just four steps!

Read the question. If it says:

- Discuss—make fact-based observations about the topic.
- Describe—give specific details about the subject matter.
- Show—point out your idea or opinion and support it with facts.
- Explain—offer causes or reasons for something. Be factual.

Write an introduction:

- Briefly explain what the essay will be about.
- Use the third person. Don't use I unless told to do so.

Write the body of the essay.

Each paragraph should answer a specific part of the question:

- A topic sentence.
- Information that supports the topic sentence.
- A closing sentence.

Write the conclusion. Summarize the essay topic and be sure to:

- State what you've concluded.
- Mention how the facts support your position.

Encourage your teen to take a few minutes before starting to outline her ideas by jotting down notes having to do with the topic and then decide how to link them together.

MAP testing for grades K-11 will finish April 4th and the ACT make-up test will be held Tuesday, April 3rd. The state assessment, WY-TOPP is planned to run April 18th through May 8th. This is for grades K-10.

Scholarships are flowing through the office and into the hands of seniors! Scholarship dates are updated on the counselor page on the school website. Scheduling will start to be a popular topic as we head into the spring. We have a lot of great things happening with students and course offerings. All a student has to do is ASK. Library News

Books! Books! They're everywhere! As everyone knows, a visit to the Ten Sleep library has been a challenge. Books have been moved to several places before finding their way to their permanent location. During this process many patrons have seen titles that they may have missed in the past, just because it has moved to a different shelf. It is fun to watch this discovery happen. We enjoy assisting you in finding the perfect book for fun or research.

Although we are not located in our new meeting room yet, the After the Bell after school program continues at the Library. We have many fun things to do in April including paper airplanes, a patterns and mosaic lego challenge, learn and design an agamograph, dinosaur diorama, make a thaumatrope, plants, trees, bubbles, suncatchers and more.

Our staff would like to recognize the following students for pitching in and helping. They may have stacked books on tables or shelves, or maybe helped by pushing carts of books or assisting with various programs. These students are: Elizabeth Bleicher, Cole Anderson, Zane Cooper, Cole Nichols, Kinley Anderson, and Wyatt Turgeon.

We also want to thank the junior class for moving tubs of books from storage and back into the library. We are not done yet, but it would take a lot longer without these extra hands. Thank you.

Don't forget the many databases that can be used from the comfort of your own home. Fixing your car? Visit the CHILTON LIBRARY database. Do you want to learn French? Visit MANGO LANGUAGES where there are over 60 languages to choose from. Are you wondering if you could get a job at the Post Office? Take a practice test on the LEARNING EXPRESS database. BOOKFLIX is a great literacy resource for K-3 and it includes animation, audio, and interactive games. All these databases and more can be found at GoW-YLD.net, Wyoming's portal to knowledge and learning.

CELEBRATION OF ACHIEVEMENT: The Washakie County Library Foundation is celebrating National Library Week (April 8-14) by hosting a light luncheon in the Washakie County Library at 1019 Coburn Avenue in Worland on Thursday, April 12th from 11:00AM to 1:00PM. This is a celebration of achievement for completing the Wyoming Libraries Endowment Challenge for Washakie County. The event is free and open to the public.

Nurse's Corner

For several years the use of cigarettes among teens and young adults has decreased, however, the use of e-cigarettes is an increasing new trend developing among our youth. E-cigarettes, or electronic cigarettes, are battery-operated smoking devices that contain nicotine, flavorings, and other chemicals. Many youth and adults believe that "vaping" or using an e-cigarette is harmless, but recent studies prove otherwise. Nicotine, a highly addictive chemical compound found in e-cigarettes, has a big impact on the underdeveloped brain of teens and their brain function. Within seconds of using an e-cigarette nicot-tine enters the brain and causes an increase in dopamine, a neurotransmitter that is involved in addictions to other drugs such as cocaine and heroin. (<https://teens.drugabuse.gov/teachers/mind-over-matter/nicotine/how-does-nicotine-act-brain>) Studies show that youth quickly become addicted to nicotine and young people who use e-cigarettes are more likely to try cigarettes. E-cigarettes also contain many other potentially harmful chemicals and metals such as arsenic, chromium, manganese, nickel and lead. "Chronic inhalation of these toxins have been linked to lung, liver, immune, cardiovascular and brain damage, and even cancers." (Environmental Health Perspectives) Because e-cigarettes are still fairly new the long term effects are still unknown, but the current evidence seems clear, e-cigarettes are harmful to the health of teens and young adults. Be smart, don't start!

Prom News

This year's theme for Prom is 'Get R Done' and will be held at the Red Reflet. Dinner is scheduled to start at 6:00PM and Pictures at 6:30PM. Grand March will take place at 8:00PM. The dance will end at 12:00AM. No bus will be available for students this year. Ticket prices will be available soon.
