The Program:

Randolph County's Pre-K program is designed to build the skills children need to be successful in kindergarten and lay a foundation for lifelong learning. Research supports the need for a balance of teacher directed and child-initiated instruction. Our Pre-K classrooms offer the time, space, and material necessary to create effective environments for learning.

Randolph County Pre-K teachers are purposeful in planning and providing classrooms where learning and practice take place through the context of play. Our classrooms are equipped in a manner that supports discovery, small group and individual learning, exploration, problem solving, and development.
