Language Arts This Year

Throughout the year, we will be reading novels, short stories, informational texts, poetry, podcast transcripts and more. Our goal as a class is to learn and strengthen your skills in reading, writing, speaking and listening. A big reason we read and write is to learn more about what it means to be human and about experiences similar and different to our own lives. No matter what your relationship has been with Language Arts in the past, this school year is a fresh start and an opportunity to push yourself to be who you want to be!

Class Breakdown

Close Reading:

Close reading is a time to build technical reading skills, like identifying main ideas, themes and analyzing how authors use techniques to communicate these ideas. Students will write main idea jots and short responses about what they read, along with engaging in discourse daily.

Novel Study:

Novel study is a time for us to come together as a community and read a novel together. Each marking period has specific themes connected to the novel. Every week, students will engage in purposeful note-taking and meaningful discussions that aim to deepen our understanding of the novel and interconnecting themes.

Writing:

Students will engage in writing on a daily basis, whether that be quick free writes, short responses or working on an essay. This year, we will develop writing skills and techniques across creative, informational, and literary analysis.

Daily Discourse:

Daily discourse is a time for students to build academic skills, such as verbal communication and active listening. Students will synthesize information by exploring main ideas and thematic connection as the class moves through novels and our close reading texts.

Absences and Make-up Work Policy:

Students will be responsible for independently getting the work that was missed due to absence. Students are responsible for checking Schoology to see what classwork &/or assignments they have missed. Students may follow up with Ms. Reinecke with any questions regarding the work or deadlines, however it needs to be during a time that works for both the student and Ms. Reinecke.

Late work will not be accepted after the end of the Unit. Failure to turn in work by the deadline will result in the work marked as a 0. Of course, in the case of an emergency or extenuating circumstances please contact Ms. Reinecke so she can support you.

Re-Takes on Classwork quizzes or tests are available until the end of the Unit.

If you miss a Mastery Exam or Finals week, Late submissions will only be accepted with an absence that has been Excused by the Main Office.

Again, in the case of an emergency or extenuating circumstances please talk with Ms. Reinecke so she can support you.

Class Expectations

Following classroom expectations are vital for your success and the success of those around you. When you make the choice to come to class you agree to follow these expectations. Failing or refusing to follow these expectations will result in you being asked to leave and not receiving credit for your work that day. You will always be welcomed back when you are ready to follow expectations.

- Be Focused and be Present in Class- When in this class, your focus is on Language Arts and the work that goes along with it. This also means when Ms. Reinecke or a student is speaking your voice is off and your attention is on them.
- Make Space for Everyone- Treat everyone with respect, make room for all voices and always lead with kindness and understanding. Hate and disrespect will not be tolerated.
- Put in the Effort- You need to try and put forth effort in order to be successful in this class (and life). Giving up is not an option.
- Follow Class Policies- Food and cellphone policies must be followed.
- Come Prepared- You know you will need materials every day, so bring them.

Cellphone and Earbuds Policy

In order to eliminate distractions, cellphones and earbuds are to be away at all times during class*. After one reminder to put your phone or earbuds away, your phone/earbuds must remain on Ms. Reinecke's desk for the remainder of the class period. Failure to follow this will result in you being asked to leave the classroom.

*Sometimes during work time listening to your music is okay! Ms. Reinecke will let you know when this is.

Food Policy

Food is not to be eaten in the classroom. If there is an extenuating situation where you didn't eat lunch, please connect with Ms. Reinecke and we will work out a plan.
