The most motivated Latinx student confronts systemic barriers to college and career success. Latino Network's Escalera program works to break down these barriers. Escalera offers an intensive year-round college-preparation program to Reynolds High School students. Instructors facilitate after-school and summer programs for high school cohorts of 11th and 12th graders. In addition, the Early Escalera program provides a head start for motivated 9th and 10th grade students.

Metropolitan Family Service student advocates foster youth development and academic achievement by providing a variety of year-round, school-linked, age-appropriate supports to children and youth who are at-risk of academic failure and dropping out of school. MFS engages parents and family members to the greatest extent possible to support student success. Supports are intended primarily to serve middle and high school age students who are experiencing racial discrimination and structural barriers. Services are delivered at community and school sites to youth attending regular and/or alternative schools.

Oregon Mathematics Engineering Science Achievement is a pre-college academic program hosted by Portland State University that equips underrepresented students with science, technology, engineering and math. MESA reframes these skills into how students can help others in their daily lives, connecting academic work to their real lives and aspirations. As a result, they are better prepared to graduate from high school, enroll in postsecondary education, and compete in a global marketplace.

marathon SCHOLARS

At Marathon Scholars we believe that higher education is life changing and should be available to all who aspire. The Marathon Scholars program is designed to identify students whose socio-economic situation may present them with profound challenges but who have great promise and untapped potential. The Marathon Scholars program model utilizes a combination of mentoring, college scholarships and enrichment opportunities to invest in these children early – in 4th grade- and help remove the obstacles they will face on their marathon journey to a college degree.

NORTHWEST OUTWARD BOUND SCHOOL

Outward Bound is one of the most established names in wilderness education. In 2012, the Portland Schools Program was launched to bring the principles of wilderness education into the classroom. The program is a semester long progression of team-building activities and discussions centered on self worth, teamwork, culture and diversity, leadership, and service. Physical activities such as rock climbing and high ropes courses are interwoven to put lessons into practice and enable students to challenge their perceived limitations. Within the Reynolds School District, NWOBS currently provides programming to RHS AVID 9 & 10 students, the RLA Leadership Class, and AVID 7 & 8 students at all three middle schools.
