School and Community:

Reynolds High School is a comprehensive, four-year public high school serving over 2,700 students in grades 9-12. Located at the mouth of the beautiful Columbia River Gorge in Troutdale, Oregon, Reynolds School District serves five smaller suburban towns in the Greater Portland metropolitan area and includes 11 elementary schools (K-5), three middle schools (grades 6-8), one alternative high school (grades 9-12) and Reynolds High School (RHS), which currently has the second largest student body at a public school in the state of Oregon. Reynolds High School is accredited by the Northwest Association of Accredited Schools and a member of the College Board.

Reynolds has a comprehensive English Language Learners (ELL) program, serving about 450 students who speak more than 40 different languages. The composition of the student body is as follows:

American Indian/Alaska Native	1%	Asian	11%
Black/African American	8%	Hispanic/Latino	39%
Multi-Racial	5%	Pacific Islander/Hawaiian	2%

Academic Program:

Reynolds High School offers a diverse program of studies for all students. Along with standard and advanced course offerings in the core academic subjects of Language Arts, Math, Science and Social Studies, students can pursue areas of interest in the Arts (Visual and Performing), Career Technical Education (CTE), Wellness and World Languages (Spanish, French, and Japanese).

College Now Dual Credit Program: provides high school students the opportunity to earn high school and college credits simultaneously through Mt. Hood Community College (MHCC). Selected courses are taught at Reynolds High School by teachers who are certified and approved by MHCC.

Middle College: a cooperative program between Mt. Hood Community College and Reynolds High School. The program allows RHS juniors and seniors to take a full-time (12 credit) college course load at MHCC during the Fall, Winter, and Spring terms. Students earn dual credit toward their high school diploma and their desired college certificate or degree.

Senior Inquiry: a dual credit program through Portland State University (PSU). Students are exposed to an academically rigorous course of study team-taught by Reynolds High School instructors and PSU professors. This is a two-period offering that will afford successful completers the opportunity to earn up to 15 PSU credits.
