RLHS HIGHLIGHTS

FBLA: The Red Land Chapter of FBLA was honored in an article in the PA FBLA Penn Pal in December. This magazine is distributed to over 13,000 high school students in over 300 chapters across Pennsylvania. The Red Land Chapter was recognized for their participation in the Regional Leadership Workshop held in October. It is quite an honor to have our chapter acknowledged in this publication.

APPLIED GEOMETRY: Students in Mrs. Messinger's Geometry class had to research a famous architect, several of their buildings, and describe how geometry was important in the design. Then they had to create their own design inspired by that architect. We are then doing a museum walk and they have to each evaluate three other student's work

SPANISH: My Spanish 5 class went to Fishing Creek to teach and sing Christmas carols in Spanish to the 4th graders. They did a great job with the elementary kids and passed out mini candy canes at the end.

BASIC HOME REPAIR: Mr. Snelbaker brought his Basic Home Repair class to the office to apply their learned skills. The students put together a TV bracket, found the center of the wall, mounted the bracket, and hung the new conference room TV. Previously, the students removed a book shelf, creating more space!

LIBRARY: Over the Thanksgiving break, thirty library desktop PC computers were removed. The students are mostly using their Chromebook's. Mrs. Metcalfe kept three computers for student use; two computers are now set in the library catalog mode to easily look for books without a long log-in wait time, and one computer is a self-checkout station. The room looks large without the computer tables and all the dangling wires. The RLHS Library is slowly getting a make over, and Mrs. Metcalfe loves to tell her students that, "the only thing we can count on this year is change!" These are great improvements.
