Dear Members of Our Robbinsville Community,

As the Superintendent of the Robbinsville Public Schools, I would like to take one last moment to address an important matter that will significantly impact the future of our educational community. This is not just a school matter; it is a community matter, one that calls for your active participation.

Our shared commitment to education has always been at the core of our community's identity, and it is this very commitment that brings us together.

In just one week, we will have the opportunity to exercise one of our most fundamental democratic rights - voting. The importance of this act cannot be overstated; it directly shapes the future of our school district and, more importantly, the quality of education we can offer to our students for the foreseeable future.

On November 7, the district has a Public Question on the ballot that has far-reaching implications. The outcome of this question will determine the resources and opportunities available to our students, impacting their education, overall well-being and future. The question before us concerns funding for vital educational initiatives, programs, and infrastructure that will maintain the learning environment and opportunities for our children.

I strongly encourage each and every one of you to exercise your right to vote and make your voice heard in this crucial decision. The impact of your vote will extend far beyond the polling station; it will shape the path our district takes in providing an enriching and nurturing environment for our students.

To make an informed choice, I urge you to visit our district website at: https://www.robbinsville.k12.nj.us/apps/pages/index.jsp?uREC_ID=561602&type=d. There, you will find detailed information about the Public Question, its significance, and the implication it will have on our educational community. Additionally, you will find resources, FAQs, and expert insights to help you better understand the implications of your vote.

Our schools are not just places of learning; they are the heart of the Robbinsville community and rely on the support and engagement of residents like you. Your vote is a powerful tool to influence the direction we take in shaping the future of education in our district.

In closing, I want to emphasize that your participation in this decision is a vital act of civic responsibility. It is your opportunity to make a difference in the lives of our students, ensuring they receive the best education possible. Together, we can build a brighter future for the next generation.

Thank you for your dedication to our educational community. Please make sure to vote Tuesday, Nov. 7 or take advantage of early-voting opportunities that are now available.
