

It is an expectation that all students will maintain proper respect for each other, themselves, and the teacher at all times. Moreover, the following are class specific rules that are in addition to the school rules posted in the student handbook. I would ask each parent/guardian to note these classroom rules and encourage your student to abide by them. Please sign below that you've received and understand the rules and consequences.

Rules:

1. Always respect your teacher, other students, and yourself.
2. Do not speak when another person is speaking. Please raise your hand and you'll be called on, unless we are in a discussion where the free flow of ideas is encouraged.
3. Do not drink anything other than water in class (this rule can be suspended until a spill occurs). If any spill does happen, you will clean it yourself without the class stopping.
4. Outbursts or interruptions are not tolerated. You are seniors, please act like adults.
5. All other ACHS rules apply as well.

Consequences:

1. 1st offense will result in me discussing it with you immediately.
2. 2nd offense: keep you after class and discuss any problem.
3. 3rd offense: referral and call home

I do not tolerate poor behavior in class. Parents pay their hard earned money for their children to receive a good education. Students who get in the way of that will be dealt with quickly and efficiently.
