Problem

Solution

The first step of the invention process is to identify a problem or need. Watch this video on the invention process. Then, in this column, list some problems that you or others face in day to day life. You may add additional sections by right clicking and choosing "Insert row below."	In this column, list possible innovations or inventions that could solve the problems you listed. You may have more than one possible solution for an innovation or invention.

Engineering Notebook

Choose one of the innovations/inventions you listed in your solutions column above. You are going to develop this idea by doing a detailed drawing in your engineering notebook. Make it in color and label parts. Title the page innovation/invention.

Create!

If you would like extra credit, create your innovation/invention and bring in to share with the class!

Presentation

Watch the Shark Tank presentations below. Notice how each of the presenters was prepared for their presentation. They were persuasive and engaging. They made eye contact, spoke loud enough and clearly, and some even made a few jokes. Jot down notes on each of these clips under each title.
