In the book Three Good Deeds, there is a boy named Howard. Howard and the other kids in the village call a mean old lady a witch. One day, Howard snuck by the pen of geese that was next to the witch's house. Howard knew the lady loved the geese, but he went in anyway. He wanted three eggs for his family. Howard went in the property than Howard reached into the pen and got three eggs out. Right away Howard put the eggs in his hat. Right then, BAM.
