

Revised July 2021

Summit Public Schools
Summit, New Jersey
Grade Level: 10-12 / Content Area: Spanish 4
Length of Course: 1 year

Overview:

Spanish 4 is designed for students who demonstrate a high level of interest in the language. The goal of Spanish 4 is to engage students and motivate them in taking large strides in the acquisition of Spanish. Through regular use of authentic materials and cultural products, students are able to interact with the Spanish language and various cultures of Spanish speaking countries. Some of the units studied during this course are social values and its influences, science and technology, contemporary life and world challenges. Students are challenged to use present, past and future tenses at this level and engage in Intermediate-mid to intermediate-high language structures.

Motivation is a primary learning factor in language acquisition. One objective of our Spanish 4 class is to capture student interest in a way that motivates them to engage with class content in an authentic way. By providing students with real world activities and challenges, they are given the opportunity to use their language skills for the sake of accomplishing something and not just for practicing something. Not only will they learn about Spain's geography and culture, but they will also begin to engage with real authentic language in context from Latin America and Spain and break down societal and linguistic barriers. The course is conducted entirely in Spanish, giving students the opportunity to demonstrate their interpersonal, interpretive and presentational proficiency in the target language. The objective of the course is to significantly develop the students' ability to communicate by increasing their listening, reading, writing and speaking skills.

Unit 1: Sentir y vivir

7.1 World Languages Intermediate Mid by the End of Grade 12

Interpretive Mode of Communication

Intermediate Mid learners understand and communicate at the sentence level and use strings of sentences independently to accomplish the following tasks: identify the main idea and some supporting details when reading, understand the gist and some supporting details of conversations dealing with everyday life, infer the meaning of some unfamiliar words when used in familiar contexts.

Interpersonal Mode of Communication

Intermediate Mid learners speak and write using sentences and strings of sentences when exchanging preferences, feelings, opinions, and basic advice on familiar topics. They ask original questions and a variety of follow-up questions as they participate in spontaneous spoken and written conversations. Intermediate Mid learners engage in short social interactions in everyday situations. They create original sentences and questions that allow them to usually say what they want to say about self and their everyday lives.

Presentational Mode of Communication

Intermediate Mid learners speak and write using sentences and strings of sentences when expressing preferences, feelings, opinions, and basic advice on familiar topics. They can create original sentences that allow them to usually say what they want to say about self and their everyday lives.

Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s)

In this unit 1: Sentir y vivir, students will develop communicative skills to describe their relationships with their families and friends, their physical and personality descriptions, and everyday experiences. Students describe various aspects of their social life such as relationships with friends, conflicts and likes and dislikes. They will also analyze the differences and similarities between young people in the U.S. and other Spanish speaking countries. This unit will help students to have a better understanding of the importance of education across the globe and the advantages of learning a second language.

Essential Questions What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?	Enduring Understandings What will students understand about the big ideas?
<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. How do you make accurate descriptions of relationships and people in Spanish?2. Are sentimental relationships in Spanish speaking countries similar or different to those in the US?3. How do you describe feelings and states of emotions in Spanish?4. What are the characteristics of a healthy relationship?5. How are family and friends so important for newly arrived immigrants?6. How valuable is knowledge of Spanish in the USA and the world?7. How are Latinos represented on TV or movies in the US?8. What impact have Latinos made in the US?9. What is the current situation for some overeducated but underemployed young professionals in Spain today? What choices do they have?	Students will understand that... <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. When making descriptions it is important to have noun/verb agreement and adjective/noun agreement.2. The verb “estar” is used to describe the temporary feelings and location of people, objects and places.3. “ser” is used to describe the location of events.4. The verb “ser” is used to describe personality traits, professions, relationships, occupations, origin, religion and possession.5. Healthy relationships are built through trust, honesty, mutual respect and compromise regardless of whether you are in the US or a Spanish speaking country6. Having the support of family and friends can make adjusting to life in a new country easier.7. Sometimes stereotypes are used to represent Latinos on TV or films.

	8. There are many Latinos who have left their mark in the US. 9. Many highly educated young people emigrate to find work in other countries and they are face with struggles such a the language barrier, culture shock and having to take up jobs not in their field.

In this unit 3: Un mundo conectado, students will develop communicative skills to describe what it means as a young adult to process all the information relayed by mass media or social media and whether or not they should pay attention to it. So much information comes to them through newspapers, radio, television and the Internet. The mass media/social media gives them entertainment, information, and also communicates cultural values. For that reason the mass media has a huge power over people. Students will analyze the differences and similarities between the media in the U.S. and other Spanish speaking countries.

Essential Questions What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?	Enduring Understandings What will students understand about the big ideas?
<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. What is the role of media in our society, and how can we become responsible consumers and producers of news and information in the digital age?2. 7.1 World Languages Intermediate Mid by the End of Grade 12

Intermediate Mid learners understand and communicate at the sentence level and use strings of sentences independently to accomplish the following tasks: identify the main idea and some supporting details when reading, understand the gist and some supporting details of conversations dealing with everyday life, infer the meaning of some unfamiliar words when used in familiar contexts.

Interpersonal Mode of Communication

Intermediate Mid learners speak and write using sentences and strings of sentences when exchanging preferences, feelings, opinions, and basic advice on familiar topics. They ask original questions and a variety of follow-up questions as they participate in spontaneous spoken and written conversations. Intermediate Mid learners engage in short social interactions in everyday situations. They create original sentences and questions that allow them to usually say what they want to say about self and their everyday lives.

Presentational Mode of Communication

Intermediate Mid learners speak and write using sentences and strings of sentences when expressing preferences, feelings, opinions, and basic advice on familiar topics. They can create original sentences that allow them to usually say what they want to say about self and their everyday lives.

Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s)

In this unit 4: Generaciones en movimiento, students will develop communicative skills to describe the importance of family in cultural transmission or preservation. In everyday life, the most common way cultural norms are transmitted is within each individuals' home life. The way each family acts, communicates with others and an overall view of life are passed down generation to generation. The new ideas of young people can strengthen the culture and traditions their parents transmit and sometimes they can also cause conflict. In addition, students will analyze the differences and similarities between families and traditions in the U.S. and other Spanish speaking countries.

Essential Questions What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?	Enduring Understandings What will students understand about the big ideas?
<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Why are cultural values and traditions important in family life?2. What is the importance of a family in cultural transmission or preservation?3. How does family influence cultural identity?	Students will understand that... <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Traditions are rituals families engage in over and over. They lend a certain spirit that nurtures the family connection, giving us a sense of belonging and helping us celebrate generations of family.

<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. What is an example of cultural transmission? 5. How do I describe something which is indefinite or unknown? 6. How do I use the preposition “for” in Spanish? 7. How can one keep traditions alive when you move to another country which may not share those traditions? 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 2. Sometimes traditions change because they are difficult to maintain in a new country or as the new society changes. 3. A person's understanding of their own cultural identity develops from birth and is shaped by the values and attitudes prevalent at home and the surrounding, noting that the cultural identity, in its essence, relates to our need to belong. Everyone needs to feel accepted and “at home” with a certain group. 4. Cultural transmission is the process through which cultural elements, in the form of attitudes, values, beliefs, and behavioral scripts, are passed onto and taught to individuals and groups. 5. The subjunctive is used in an adjectival clause when the antecedent is indefinite or unknown or is nonexistent or negated; in contrast, the indicative is used when the antecedent is a definite or existing one. 6. There are two prepositions in Spanish for the preposition “for” and their use varies by context

In this unit, Las riquezas naturales, students will develop communicative skills to describe what it means as a young adult or as a teen in today's world to be conscious about our planet. This unit was developed with the intention of being a reminder of the importance of taking care of our planet and that the destruction of its natural resources affect us all. Students will be able to use the appropriate vocabulary dealing with the environment, they will be exposed to authentic resources in print media and video dealing with climate change, the environmental crisis and the future of our planet. Students will understand that there are many things they can do to promote awareness of the current environmental crisis and to help prevent further damage to the planet. They will learn about young activists from all over the world and new ideas that are ecofriendly.

Essential Questions What provocative questions will foster inquiry, understanding, and transfer of learning?	Enduring Understandings What will students understand about the big ideas?
<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. What are the social, political and environmental challenges facing the world's societies?2. What human activities are causing the atmosphere to warm?3. What can you do to conserve energy and reduce CO2 in the atmosphere?4. What are the causes and consequences of deforestation?	Students will understand that... <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. There are many things they can do to promote awareness of environmental problems and to help prevent further environmental problems.2. Environmental problems affect everyone in the world and it is important to find solutions together.

How do I construct conditional sentences in Spanish?	<ol style="list-style-type: none">3. Human activity, particularly the burning of fossil fuels, creates greenhouse gases. Burning coal to generate electricity is the most significant source of this CO₂; deforestation also plays a part.4. Deforestation is the clearing, destroying, or otherwise removal of trees through deliberate, natural, or accidental means. It can occur in any area densely populated by trees and other plant life, but the majority of it is currently happening in the Amazon rainforest. The loss of trees and other vegetation can cause climate change, desertification, soil erosion, fewer crops, flooding, increased greenhouse gases in the atmosphere, and a host of problems for indigenous people.5. There are many ways to reduce you and your family's energy use. Switch to compact fluorescent light bulbs, install energy-efficient appliances, and turn off appliances and electronics when not in use. Take shorter showers. Drive less; instead, ride your bike or take public transportation, and carpool when you can. In the winter, dress more warmly instead of turning up the thermostat; keep blinds and curtains closed at night and open during the day. In the summer, raise the thermostat to 78, and turn on a ceiling fan instead of the AC.6. They can make a change by conducting school- or community-wide campaigns —using leaflets, posters, or announcements in school assemblies —that promote the ecological friendly activities. They can work with local organizations to promote public transportation, tree-planting, energy-efficient construction, and

In Spanish, the future tense is one many many ways to express actions or conditions that will happen in the future. 8. In Spanish, the future tense may be used to express conjecture or probability, even about present events. 9. The conditional tense is used to express what would occur under certain circumstances. 10. Conditional can also be used to make polite requests.
