

Spanish Food Webquest: ¡Qué Sabroso!

(Edited for use at JP Case School) by Mrs. Hrabovecky)

¡Bienvenidos! Welcome to your page on Spanish food! Have you ever tried a Spanish dish? Do you know what people in Spain eat? This will be an exciting task for you. You will have fun learning about Spain's tasty cuisine!

Task Process Evaluation Conclusion

You will research Spanish food customs on the internet and answer a questionnaire. You will then create a Spanish restaurant menu including:

- 5 authentic Spanish foods with a one sentence description or more of the food (a picture of the food would be preferred too!)
- Prices of the menu items in Euros and American Dollars

Day 2:

1. Today, you will begin your Spanish Menus. Follow the directions to help you.

2. Open Publisher. From the list on the left hand side, choose "menus." Then click on "Daily Specials" menu. You will have three choices to choose from. Don't worry about color because that can be changed.

3. Begin creating your menu. (See my menu pile for examples) You may choose any font and color. This is your project. Take pride in it and make it look colorful, nice, and readable. You must have the following items in your menu:

- Put the name of your restaurant at the top. Ex. "El Restaurante de (Your Name)". If your name is not included in the name of the restaurant, then you must put your name somewhere on the menu.
- Create a slogan for your restaurant. Ex. "Great food at great prices!"
- 5 authentic Spanish foods with a one sentence description or more of the food (a picture of the food would be preferred too!)
- Prices of the menu items in Euros and American Dollars

2. Here are some resources for Spanish foods and recipes:

Conclusion

¡Felicidades! ¡Has terminado! You have finished! I hope that you have learned enough information about Spanish cuisine so that you may someday order in a Spanish restaurant. You don't have to go to Spain to eat at Spanish place. There are many in Washington DC and New York. I encourage you to visit them someday! Now, go home and make your recipe for your family!
