

The English Chef

Mrs. Thomas

By: Olivia Rossi

From baking to teaching, Mrs. Thomas does it all! She is an eighth grade English teacher in Riverview Junior High. This is her first year teaching at Riverview School District, though she has been teaching elsewhere for many years. Mrs. Thomas has all experience necessary to be a wonderful English teacher. Everyone at Riverview is very grateful to have her teaching here this year.

While Mrs. Thomas teaches English, she is also in charge of cooking class for the junior high. She loves cooking and baking. She also stated that if she wasn't a teacher, she would enjoy owning her own bakery or coffee shop.

Teaching English obviously isn't her only talent. While she loves teaching that class if she could teach any other subject, it would be US history. Mrs. Thomas always has been intrigued by that class, she believes it would be a fun class to teach. Mrs. Thomas grew up in Verona, however she lived on the Penn Hills side. Therefore, she didn't go to Riverview. For college she went to IUP University. At college, she decided to become a teacher because she always loved kids. For this reason, she thought teaching would be a great job. In her free time, Mrs. Thomas enjoys exercising and going outside. She would also love to have dinner with Christian Bale if she could. Mrs. Thomas is a fantastic teacher here Riverview Junior Senior High School.
