Teacher of the week

Mrs. Harman's favorite thing about teaching Spanish is the opportunity to learn more about the language and the various cultures surrounding the language. Her favorite thing about teaching English is digging into the language and seeing how it is used for various purposes. Good advice she would give her students is to always work hard, and do every assignment, especially the smaller ones. The smaller assignments are what make a difference in the end. Teachers look at attitude as well as grades.
