From The Principal's Desk

 @Union_Canal_El

Dear Parents/Guardians:

March, it comes in like summer, and hopefully goes out like summer! The Ides of March are definitely upon us! Does anyone remember a snowless February? Hopefully we will see a snowless March as well! March is full of change and often turbulent weather. Let's come together as one and help our children grow not only their minds but also their hearts.

It is hard to believe that by the month's end we will be three quarters of the way through the 2019-20 school year. With pre-planning and thoughts of 2020-21, I encourage anyone who wants to help make a difference, please become involved with our school. An easy way to accomplish this, is to become an advocate for your child and our programs by volunteering your time with our PTT group. During the month of April we will be creating class and school schedules for the 2020-21 school year. As in years past, student assignments are being considered. Current district policy accepts requests from parents for students not to/or to have specific teachers. However, these requests cannot always be honored. This policy is in place to obtain appropriate and educationally sound classrooms and is intended to create the optimum learning environment for all of our children. Requests must be written. Please send any request or correspondence to Mr. McGinty, Principal, by April 30, 2020. The first day of school for the 2020-21 school year is: Monday, August 31, 2020.

Responsibility is our March character trait that. When we met as a school to discuss responsibility we spoke about social and personal responsibility. The Assembly presentation can be found by selecting this link; UC March Character Trait Assembly.

Thank you for your continued support and dedication to our students. At anytime if there is anything that we can do for you please do not hesitate to contact us at school.

Yours in Education,
Bernard J. McGinty

Discussion Topics for parents speaking about Character with their children...

Responsibility...

Here are some great ways to communicate about this topic with your children. I encourage all parents to set aside time once a week to discuss and actively work together on this month's topic.

1. Kids need an opportunity to contribute to the common good.

All children contribute to the rest of us in some way, regularly. Find those ways and comment on them, even if it is just noticing when she is kind to her little brother or that you enjoy how she's always singing. Whatever behaviors you acknowledge will grow.

As your children get older, their contributions can increase appropriately, both within and outside the household. Kids need to grow into two kinds of responsibilities: their own self care, and contributing to the family welfare. Research indicates that kids who help around the house are also more likely to offer help in other situations than kids who simply participate in their own self care.

Of course, you can't expect them to develop a helpful attitude overnight. It helps to steadily increase responsibility in age appropriate ways. Invite toddlers to put napkins on the table, three year olds to set places. Four year olds can match socks, and five year olds can help you groom the dog. Six year olds are ready to clear the table, seven year olds to water plants, and eight year olds to fold laundry. Again, notice that you're inviting and empowering your child, not guilt and burdening them.

2. Remember that no kid in his right mind wants to do "chores."

Unless you want your child to think of contributing to the family as drudgery, don't "make" him do chores without you until they are a regular part of your family routine, and one that your child does not resist. Your goal isn't getting this specific job done, it's shaping a child who will take pleasure in contributing and taking responsibility. Make the job fun. Give as much structure, support, and hands-on help as you need to, including sitting with him and helping for the first thirty times he does the task, if necessary. Know that it will be much harder than doing it yourself. Remind yourself that there's joy in these tasks, and communicate that, along with the satisfaction of a job well done. Eventually, he will be doing these tasks by himself. That day will come much faster if he enjoys them.

3. Always let children "do it myself" and "help" even when it's more work for you.

And it will always be more work for you. But toddlers want desperately to master their physical worlds, and when we support them to do that, they step into the responsibility of being "response-able." So instead of rushing through your list, reframe. You're working with your child to help him discover the satisfaction of contribution. That's more important than having the job done quickly or perfectly. Notice that you're also bonding, which is what motivates kids to keep contributing.

4. Teach your child to be responsible for her interactions with others.

When your daughter hurts her little brother's feelings, don't force her to apologize. She won't mean it, and it won't help him. First, listen to her feelings to help her work out those tangled emotions that made her snarl at him. Then, once she feels better, ask her what she can do to make things better between them. Maybe she'll be ready to apologize. But maybe that will feel like losing face, and she would rather repair things with him by reading him a story, or helping him with his chore of setting the table, or giving him a big hug. This teaches children that their treatment of others has a cost, and that they're always responsible for repairs when they do damage. But because you aren't forcing, she's able to CHOOSE to make the repair, which makes it feel good, and makes her more likely to repeat it.

5. Provide routines and structure.

These are crucial in children's lives for many reasons, not the least of which is that it gives them repeated opportunities to manage themselves through a series of not especially inviting tasks. First, they master the bedtime routine and cleaning up toys and getting ready in the morning. Then they develop successful study habits and grooming habits. Finally, they learn basic life skills through repetition of household routines like doing laundry or making simple meals.

6. Teach your child to make a written schedule.

It may seem like overkill, but in our busy 21st century lives, all kids need to master this skill by high school, or they simply won't get everything done. Begin on weekends during middle school, or earlier, if their schedule is busy. Just take a piece of paper, list the hours of the day on the left, and ask your child what he needs to get done this weekend. Put in the baseball game, piano practice, the birthday party, and all the steps of the science project – shop for materials, build the volcano, write and print out the description. Be sure to block out downtime -- go for ice cream with dad, chill and listen to music. Most kids find this keeps their stress level down, since they know when everything will get done. Most important, it teaches them to manage their time and be responsible about their commitments.

7. All kids need the experience of working for pay.

All kids need the experience of working for pay, which teaches them real responsibility in the real world. Begin by paying your eight year old to do tasks you wouldn't normally expect of him (washing the car, weeding the garden), then encourage him to expand to odd jobs in the neighborhood (walk the neighbor's dog or offer snow shoveling service in the winter), move on to mother's helper/babysitting jobs when it's age appropriate, and finally take on after-school or summer jobs. Few settings teach as much about responsibility as the world of working for pay outside the family.

Kindergarten Registration and Orientation

Welcome to Kindergarten!

Please log onto the Cornwall-Lebanon School District web site for kindergarten registration instructions. Go to "Departments" tab and scroll down to "Student Registration". On the left hand side, you will see "Kindergarten Registration". Clicking on that will open up the "Welcome to Kindergarten" page.

Kindergarten Registration involves three steps. The first step is to sign up online. After you sign up on line, you will receive an email inviting you to Kindergarten Registration. The third step is an individualized kindergarten registration meeting at the school building. You can select a date and time for registration by calling the school your child will be attending.

When scheduling your appointment time, please keep in mind that registration will take approximately 1 1/2 hours.

A packet of information will be available for each family. Contained in this packet will be forms that you should complete prior to registration. If you are unable to attend this meeting, the packet of information will be available in your child's designated building office.

Registration – March 19 and March 20th, 2020

At registration, you and your child will be visiting with the school nurse to review enrollment and health papers and a parent interview will take place with a qualified staff member. A brief student assessment and short speech and language screening will be conducted that day with your child.

Please bring the following to THIS appointment:

- Completed forms (found in packet to be received at Parent Orientation Night).
- Your child's immunization record.
- Your child's birth certificate.
- Proof of residency (Deed, Lease Agreement or Mortgage Statement; Tax Statement; Proof of Liability for Municipal and School District Taxes).
- Custody Order, CLSD-approved guardianship form, CLSD-approved shared housing form.
- Physical Exam
- Dental Exam
- Your child!

Reminders!

Your child is registered for Union Canal Elementary School. Both Orientation Night and Registration will take place at this school. Traditionally, children are registered at the building where they will be attending, and we plan to continue with this process. However, we do want to alert parents to the fact that some children in borderline building attendance areas may be assigned to a different elementary building for kindergarten in order to make the most efficient use of space and teaching personnel.

School Telephone Number: (717) 270-7227 Address: 400 Narrows Drive, Lebanon

Principal: Mr. Bernard McGinty Director of Elementary Education: Dr. Tracie Clemens (717) 272-2031

Please call the school district office – 272-2031, ext. 1702 – if (1) you are not planning to send your child to Cornwall-Lebanon for kindergarten; (2) you have moved outside of the school district area; (3) the information on the address label is incorrect; (4) you believe your child's school building placement is incorrect.

Character Trait Assemblies

Students discuss the character traits of Respect, Kindness/Courtesy, Self-Discipline, Friendship, Perseverance, Diversity/Acceptance, Responsibility, Honesty and Caring throughout the school year. Every month the students focus on a specific character trait. The trait is discussed at an assembly to show some examples of the trait and it's importance. The character trait for March is "Responsibility". At the end of the month each teacher is asked to give the name of one of their students who best represented that character trait during that particular month. The student chosen is recognized at an assembly, given a certificate, a t-shirt and a small gift to thank them for displaying that trait. The students who displayed the character trait of "friendship" during the month of January were recognized at the February assembly and their picture is displayed below.

Join The Band

Attention Parents/Guardians of Third Grade Students:
It's Time to Join the Band!

Enrollment in the Cornwall-Lebanon Elementary Band Program is available to current third grade students. Students who wish to enroll in the band will begin studying their instruments during the Summer Band Program! The program takes place from June 11 – July 15. (Mark your calendar!) Daily lessons for current third grade students last for 30 minutes and are typically available between 7:30am and 9:30am.

Students who wish to join the band may choose from the following instruments: flute, clarinet, saxophone, trumpet, French horn, trombone, baritone, tuba, or orchestra bells.

Students will receive enrollment information at an assembly in April. If you have any questions, please contact Mr. Thompson at sthompson@clsd.k12.pa.us.

We look forward to seeing your child in the band program this summer!

Kids Heart Challenge

The students participated in The American Heart Association's "Kid's Heart Challenge" on Friday, February 14th. Union Canal students and families raised $10,124.50. The money raised helps children with heart problems. Below are pictures of the students in action during the event. Great job U.C.!

Kid n Kops Lunches

During the months of January, February, March and April, students in grades 1,2,3, and 4 have the opportunity to attend lunch here at U.C. with Mr. McGinty, the Principal and an Officer from the North Lebanon Police Department. McDonald's in Myerstown provides a Happy Meal for the occasion. The students can ask the police officer questions about the job and their experiences. Students are chosen by their teacher for having a positive attitude, a satisfactory attendance record and academic achievement, "the three A's", during the school year. Below are Officer Ryan Hasse from the North

Lebanon Police Department and 3rd grade students Averie Garman, Michael Kuntz, Stephanie Pena, Tyler Kohr, Anjie Cheattle, Jaylen Padilla and Principal Mr. Bernard McGinty.

UC Spelling Bee

Nine students participated in the Union Canal Spelling Bee on February 25th. Pictured below are the students: Carter Wickenheiser, Nicholas Ryals, Joseph Pichardo, Veronica An, Roxie Morgan, Aidan Enimpah, Samie Rundle and Edward Kuntz. The 1st place winner of the spelling bee was Edward Kuntz. There was a tie for 2nd place with Veronica An and Samie Rundle. The students who qualified for the district bee are Edward Kuntz, Samie Rundle, Veronica An, Aidan Enimpah, Joseph Pichardo and Roxie Morgan. Congratulations.

Inclement Weather Procedures & Skylert Notification System

Inclement Weather Procedures & Skylert Notification System: The decision to close school or open two hours later will be announced before 7:00 AM on the CLSD Home page, www.clsd.k12.pa.us, as well as on the Cornwall-Lebanon School District Facebook and Twitter pages (@CLSD_Schools), and on local radio and TV stations. The Skylert automated notification system also will be used to contact parents/guardians during the school day in the event of a building power failure, hazardous situation, or an early dismissal. Please review the important information that is printed inside the front cover of the CLSD 2019-20 Calendar of Events. The District website is the first place important information is posted. Please, do not contact school or District offices in the case of these events as it is important for our phone lines to be available for emergency communications.

Remember, the Skylert notification system is only as accurate as the information you have provided to the District. Be sure your phone and email settings allow (does not Block) these numbers: (717) 272-2031 and (717) 389-1810, and emails from @clsd.k12.pa.us addresses. Please review your information and make any updates in Skylert (for general information sharing, including school closings):

1. Login to your Skyward account.
2. Click the word "Skylert" in the left menu.
3. Fill-in and check or uncheck your desired settings.
4. Click "SAVE" in the upper right side of the page when you are done.

Note: If you need to change any "Emergency Contact" information, please contact your student's school office.

Lost and Found

There is a large plastic container located right outside the school office. Inside there is a collection of lost and found items that were dropped off by students and staff. When you visit the office, or check your student in or out of school, please take a minute to check to see if any of the items belong to your child. Thanks.
