

I. Sort each word according to its part of speech (POS)

Adjectives
Nouns
Verbs

II. Vocab words used in context.

- Everyone experiences a _____ in middle school.
- Not all products online are not real, for they are _____.
- Snakes, sharks, spiders, or small spaces are _____ for those afraid of said things.
- We like to hire _____ contractors when remodeling our homes.
- Lovebirds are _____ for each other.
- Teachers who lecture make learning _____.
- Drivers are often _____ when they're pulled over for speeding.
- Students get in trouble when their behavior is _____.
- The Rock looked _____ at the SuperBowl.
- While car accidents leave us aghast, we are always _____ by them as we drive by.

Vocabulary List #4

Lynx

Quiz: _____

Twitterpated (adj)	Excited or overcome by love; smitten J.Lo and Ben Afflect are twitterpated , and the world hopes they get married.	Enthrall (verb)	To hold the attention of as though under a spell
		Enthralling (adj)	The half-time show enthralled millions of people. Tik Tok videos are enthraling .
Asinine (adj)	Foolish, unintelligent, silly; stupid Students sometimes feel the cell phone rule is asinine .	Flabbergast (verb)	To surprise so greatly one is left speechless His preposterous alien story flabbergasted everyone.
Sham (Noun)	Something fake, not genuine; a scam Car warranty phone calls and click back are examples of shams .	Tedious (adj)	Seemingly going on for a long time; boring Homework feels tedious at times.
Formidable (adj)	Causing fear or apprehension COVID-19 is formidable for some people. Westward Expansion was both formidable and toiling for those headed West in the 1800s.	Stint (Noun)	A period of time devoted to a job or some task. Martha Stewart did a stint in jail for insider trading, which is a crime.
Competent (adj)	Having the ability to do what is needed; skilled Competent readers use different strategies to comprehend challenging texts.	Pretentious (adj)	Drawing undeserved attention to oneself; showy, arrogant Celebrities are considered pretentious when they wear $1k shoes and drive $100k cars.

