

“Walk Two Moons”

Class Announcements

Share your most successful school moment of the year!

Teacher Announcements

- No school on Monday (Memorial Day)
- Are you passing? Do you need help from your teachers to finish STRONG?
- Temp zeroes for all work through unit 3 will be done by Friday afternoon. Do a grade check!

Tune Into Today's Agenda

- “Walk Two Moons” Plot
- “The Tide Rises, the Tide Falls” Poem

Vocabulary Word of the Lesson:

“Reluctant”

Definition

Feeling or showing unwillingness or hesitation

Synonym

Example

Antonym (opposite)

Past (Sal and Phoebe)

- The lunatic leaves another note ‘In the course of a lifetime, what does it matter?’
- Sal warns her dad not to see Mrs. Cadaver again but won't let him explain about her
- Sal is assigned a mini-journal by Mr. Birkway
- The lunatic approaches Sal and Phoebe, which scares Phoebe's mom
- Phoebe's mom goes away and leaves letters behind
- The lunatic leaves another note “You can't keep the birds of sadness from flying over your head...”
- Mrs. Cadaver receives a call from Phoebe's mom saying she's okay
- Mr. Birkway reads the class “The Tide Rides, The Tide Falls ”

Present (Sal and Grandparents Road Trip)

- Sal and her grandparents stop at a riverbed
- A boy tells them it's private property and takes Gramps' wallet
- Gram is bitten by a snake. The boy sucks the poison out, helps them get to a hospital, and admits he lied.

The Tide Rises, the Tide Falls

By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

The tide rises, the tide falls,
The twilight darkens, the curlew calls;
Along the sea-sands damp and brown
The traveller hastens toward the
town,

And the tide rises, the tide falls.
Darkness settles on roofs and walls,
But the sea, the sea in the darkness calls;
The little waves, with their soft, white hands,
Efface the footprints in the sands,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.

The morning breaks; the steeds in their
stalls
Stamp and neigh, as the hostler calls;
The day returns, but nevermore
Returns the traveller to the shore,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.

Curlew – a kind of bird

Hastens – hurries

Efface – erase

Hostler – person employed to look after horses

The Tide Rises, the Tide Falls

By Henry Wadsworth
Longfellow

The tide rises, the tide falls,
The twilight darkens, the curlew calls;
Along the sea-sands damp and brown
The traveller hastens toward the
town,

And the tide rises, the tide falls.
Darkness settles on roofs and walls,
But the sea, the sea in the darkness calls;
The little waves, with their soft, white hands,
Efface the footprints in the sands,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.

The morning breaks; the steeds in their
stalls
Stamp and neigh, as the hostler calls;
The day returns, but nevermore
Returns the traveller to the shore,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.

- What is this poem about?
- What imagery stands out to you in the poem?
- What is the tone of the poem?
- What do you think happens to “the traveller” in the poem?
- Why is this poem upsetting to Phoebe and Sal in Walk Two Moons?
- Why might the author include this poem in the book?