Helpful Hints from the Counseling Department

5 Step Problem-Solving Model

The 5 Step Problem-solving Model is very helpful when you have a problem and don't know what to do or how to move forward.

Ask yourself these 5 questions to help find a solution.

- 1) What is the problem? State the problem. The more specific you can be, the better.
- 2) What do you want to happen? State the outcome you're hoping for.
- 3) What have you already tried? Make a list of things you have already tried to solve your problem.
- 4) What else could you try? Brainstorm some additional things you could try. List them all and pick one to try next.
- 5) When are you going to do it? Select a specific time to implement the something else you are going to try. Unless you DO IT, it's just an idea.
