Researching for Art

In order to better understand architecture, we should take some time to explore and discover scenes around the world. This can help us to discover all sorts of things....

If we research:

How do I research?

You can use:

Legitimate sources

Images

Wikipedia

YT Kids

Google Maps

What information should I collect?

Where is the structure located?

What is the size of the structure?

What was the purpose of the structure? (Why was it built?)

When was the structure built?

Who was/is the architect?

What do you like most about this structure?

In your opinion, does this building add to the environment it was built in, or does it detract from it? Why?

What are 3 interesting facts about your structure that are not listed above?

How do I get there?
