

Date:

Score:

Write an Op-Ed About Something You Were Wrong About

Write an Op-Ed (or opinion piece) on something you were wrong about. Perhaps your position on abortion has changed over time. Or maybe your ideas on what constitutes a true friend has changed. Or, perhaps you thought pitbulls were terrible pets, and you now realize that you were wrong. Whatever topic you choose, be sure you are specific about how your mind has changed, and what created this change.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.