

Purple Problem

Molly and Sandy were friends. Their favorite color was purple. They liked anything that was purple. They both had purple book bags, purple socks, and even purple shoes.

One day, Molly and Sandy went to the store together. They were both going to get lollipops. They each wanted a purple one, but there was only one purple lollipop left. There were lots of other colors: red, orange, and green, too... but only one purple.

The girls did not know what to do. They both looked at the purple lollipop for a long time. Suddenly they knew just what to do.

What do you think that Molly and Sandy did?

What would you have done?

Do you have a favorite color? What is it?

Name _____ Date _____

Use your favorite color to draw a picture of you and a friend sharing a special treat.